NICK
PERDOMO, JR.
PRESIDENT & CEO

Welcome to the World of PERDOMO CIGARS

We are a family owned and operated company headquartered in Miami, Florida with agricultural and manufacturing facilities in Estelí, Nicaragua. As a vertically integrated cigar manufacturer, we control every process, from our agricultural operations in the fertile valleys of the Estelí, Condega, and the famed Jalapa regions in Nicaragua to our distribution center in Miami, Florida.

Our manufacturing facilities consist of greenhouses, curing barns, fermentation warehouses, selection and sorting departments, production facilities, a state of the art box factory, and a first class packaging operation. Each and every department is fully committed to making sure quality is our top priority!

PERDOMO CIGARS is the only cigar manufacturer to completely absorb the punitive SCHIP federal excise tax on all of its brands, and we will continue to do so. As a family business, we have held our prices and in many cases reduced them in order to be extremely competitive. Our approach is to continue offering the highest quality premium cigars at affordable prices.

TABACALERA PERDOMO is producing some of the most sought after handmade cigars that set the standard for quality and flavor around the world. Our tobaccos are well-aged and have complex flavors which offer cigar enthusiasts a rich and satisfying smoking experience. We hope you enjoy our catalog and invite you to visit our website, www.PERDOMOCIGARS.com, to learn more about the Perdomo family and our cigars.

We appreciate your loyalty and continued support.

Best Regards,

Nick Perdomo, Jr.
President, CEO

Finca Natalie, PERDOMO'S most prestigious farm, is named after Nick and Janine's daughter.

Located in Estelí Nicaragua, Finca Natalie has four curing barns, each holds 9,720,000 tobacco leaves in a growing season for a total of 38,880,000 leaves per year.

Each leaf is harvested by hand.

12 YEAR VINTAGE

A blend of PERDOMO's finest and most cherished 12-year aged wrappers, binders, and fillers, these rare tobaccos have been carefully bale-aged for ten years and then bourbon barrel-aged for an additional two years.

Using a proprietary double-aging process, each leaf used to make the PERDOMO Double Aged 12 Year Vintage is aged in charred, white oak bourbon barrels.

This unique double-aging process ensures the perfect color, texture, aroma, and flavor in these tobaccos, making each cigar a well-balanced and full-flavored smoking experience.

PERDOMO protects every tobacco plant in a perfect greenhouse environment prior to transplanting them onto the farm. The roof of the greenhouse is made with a special material that blocks twenty five percent of the sun's UV rays to help regulate the climate. The fine cloth walls allow airflow and keep out insects, airborne viruses, and molds from harming the young tobacco plants.

Before being transplanted on the farm, PERDOMO inspects every tobacco plant from top to bottom for the perfect color, posture, and most importantly, a healthy root system.

PERDOMO controls the quality and consistency of blending every cigar by managing the complete life cycle of each tobacco plant.

PERDOMO controls the exact amount of water and fertilizer each plant receives by using a custom water filtration and drip irrigation system. Using this level of technology guarantees each plant receives the proper nutrients while conserving the natural water resource on the farm.

A close-up photograph of a person using a traditional wooden-handled plow to aerate soil in a tobacco field. The person is wearing brown pants and a dark shirt, with a mobile phone clipped to their belt. The plow has a long wooden handle and a metal blade that is being pushed into the dark, rich soil. The background is filled with rows of vibrant green tobacco plants, creating a lush and productive agricultural scene.

PERDOMO uses traditional row plowing with oxen to aerate the soil, helping the tobacco plants to develop stronger roots and grow large, healthy leaves.

10TH ANNIVERSARY

Awarded Best Brand of Nicaragua in 2018 by Cigar Journal, the PERDOMO Reserve 10th Anniversary Champagne is blended using tobaccos that have been carefully hand-selected and aged for a minimum of six years.

The PERDOMO Reserve 10th Anniversary Champagne was where the technique of bourbon barrel-aging wrapper tobaccos started for PERDOMO.

This special aging process was a Perdomo family secret for years and Nicholas Perdomo, Sr. aptly named the beautifully bourbon barrel-aged wrappers, the “Champagne” of wrappers.

PERDOMO inspects each tobacco leaf before it is strung by hand onto the eucalyptus sticks that will hang in the curing barns. PERDOMO uses various color strings to identify the different primings harvested from each plot on the farm.

One of the ways PERDOMO controls the humidity and temperature in the curing barn is by properly spacing the sticks according to the size of the tobacco leaves. Each leaf will slowly lose its chlorophyll and cure naturally to the perfect color and texture. This process takes anywhere between 45 to 65 days depending on the size of the leaf.

HABANO BOURBON BARREL-AGED

Achieving the perfect PERDOMO Habano Bourbon Barrel-Aged blend starts with tobaccos that have been carefully hand-selected and aged for a minimum of six years prior to qualifying for the PERDOMO bourbon barrel-aging process.

After being aged for six years, the Connecticut wrappers are bourbon barrel-aged for an additional 8 months, the Sun Grown wrappers for an additional 10 months, and the Maduro wrappers for an additional 14 months. These tobaccos are at their peak of color, texture, aroma, and flavor, making each PERDOMO Habano Bourbon Barrel-Aged cigar a perfectly balanced and smooth smoking experience.

After the tobacco leaves are cured in the curing barns, they are fermented in pilóns for a minimum of three years. Each pilón, weighing approximately 3,600 pounds, is reconstructed multiple times by hand throughout the fermentation process. PERDOMO monitors the humidity and temperature of each pilón daily making sure each tobacco leaf ferments naturally to the perfect color, texture, aroma, and flavor.

With over seventy-five years of experience, tobacco legend Aristides Garcia leads a team of experts who inspect each tobacco leaf throughout the fermentation process.

PERDOMO uses time-honored traditions to maintain consistency in each of its blends.

LOT 23

The history of PERDOMO Lot 23 is very special for the Perdomo family. Nick Perdomo, Sr. pioneered the project in 2000 as he and his son Nick, Jr. worked closely to develop one of the families' most prestigious farms in Estelí, Nicaragua.

Similar to a wine maker's single vineyard reserve, PERDOMO Lot 23 utilizes tobaccos that are grown exclusively on the same plot of land. The secret to the success of PERDOMO Lot 23 is the special blending of 5-year aged Cuban-seed Nicaraguan tobaccos that come from this extremely fertile farm.

PERDOMO Lot 23 was awarded the Best Value Brand of Nicaragua in 2012 by Cigar Journal and is one of the best-selling premium cigars in the world.

PERDOMO uses bourbon barrels to age their tobaccos to the perfect color, texture, aroma, and flavor. The layers of char in the American white oak bourbon barrels help to caramelize the colors and flavors of these special tobaccos. This additional fermentation process guarantees that each leaf has a smooth taste and is bursting with rich flavors.

PERDOMO uses this custom-made system to help prepare the delicate wrapper tobaccos.

As the wheels turn, the hands of tobacco open up and absorb the humidity. The slow rotation protects the wrappers from being damaged or bruised as they are humidified.

A close-up photograph of a person's hands holding a bunch of tobacco leaves. The person is wearing a green and white striped shirt. In the background, a black metal tray holds several cigars. The scene is set in a workshop with a wooden table and a patterned surface.

Every PERDOMO cigar is handcrafted using a blend of long filler tobaccos.

PERDOMO trains each buncher to use their hands to control the exact placement of the seco, viso, and ligero leaves.

The uniformity of these tobaccos in the bunch affects the flavor, draw, and burn of the cigar.

Every PERDOMO cigar is draw tested for quality control to guarantee a perfect draw.

Filled with rich aromas from the finished cigars, the highly guarded PERDOMO aging rooms are humidity and temperature controlled. Every PERDOMO cigar is aged in these rooms for a minimum of six to eight months depending upon the type of wrapper.

During this time, the flavors marry together to create the perfect cigar.

After being color sorted for each specific brand, every PERDOMO cigar is banded, cellophaned, and boxed by hand.

NICK'S STICKS

A favorite of the Cuban community in the mid 90's, Nick's Sticks was an exclusive production of premium hand-made cigars you could only find at Nick Perdomo's first factory on Flagler Street in Little Havana, Miami.

Nick's Sticks Little Havana Blend was release nationally in 2010 and features the company's original name and logo, Nick's Cigar Co.

Comprised of savory Cuban-seed fillers and binders grown exclusively on Perdomo's farms in the fertile northern valleys of Nicaragua, the Nick's Sticks Little Havana Blend is a very affordable line of premium cigars available in three different wrappers.

NICK'S STICKS LITTLE HAVANA BLEND

CONNECTICUT A mild to medium bodied smoke with creamy flavors and a smooth, satisfying finish.

SUN GROWN A medium to full-bodied smoke with slight hints of cedar and spice on the finish.

MADURO A medium to full-bodied smoke bursting with deep dark chocolate tones on the finish.
