

Howard Johnson

The True Black Casinova

Howard found his idols right in the community of Coconut Grove, Florida

While Howard may be most notable to the general public for his incredibly successful Chart Topping songs "SO FINE", and "IF YOU WANT IT" performed with "NITE FLYTE", behind the scenes he has influenced many popular artist through his talents as a Producer, Songwriter, Vocalist and more.

His "Golden Touch" was tapped to produce Tupac Shakur's "Nothing But Love" single where the album reached Platinum sales. Barry White used Howard's skills in writing the song "Put Me In Your Mix". And the movie community grabbed him to sing the movie score and lead vocals for "The Five Heartbeats". Jermaine Jackson had Howard's help to identify musicians, management and performing on his Japan / Africa Tour!

Because of Howard's mentors in Coconut Grove, the encouragement of his community and his mothers' love and guidance, Howard has always had a strong work ethic that continues to this day. Howard performs all around the country, Europe and Japan. His overseas fan base rivals his local following.

Called the "Prophet of Soul" in the 80's, Howard Johnson can still wear that moniker with honors. His distinctive style has earned him a spot that will go down in history. Time and again, Howard Johnson's music productions and performances are critically acclaimed. As time unfolds, this artist is identified as one of music's most versatile entertainers.

The demand for Howard's sound has sustained over time and now as new generations of fans are demanding his classic style, Howard is positioned (again) to be a leader in the music industry. 2022 will see a fresh new Howard with songs and projects that will get you back on your feet, singing from your heart and welcoming the "Good Ol' Days" back again!
