

UPSET PREVENTION AND RECOVERY TRAINING NETWORK (UPRTN)

Introducing the Accredited Primary Instructor (API)

An API is a CFI who receives spin training from a UPRTN Accredited Member (AM). The API has therefore received spin training that goes far above the national average.

Who We Are

UPRTN is a group of UPRT providers whose mission is to:

- Identify, promote, and maintain best practices for upset prevention and recovery training (UPRT) in general aviation;
- Encourage the introduction of UPRT concepts into primary flight training;
- Develop standards for members who provide UPRT; and,
- Reduce general aviation accident and incident rates, reduce insurance costs, and save lives through effective training and education.

Why become an API

Proof of real spin training

The average spin endorsement does not meet CFI ACS, nor AC 61-67, requirements. Develop proper knowledge, skill and proficiency with our accredited instructors.

National recognition

Association with the UPRTN provides national recognition. Accredited members also receive frameable certificates to show one's commitment to aviation excellence.

Reputation builder

UPRTN members are not time builders. They are passionate aviators who provide high quality, potentially lifesaving instruction, making an impact on their community. Be known for a pilot who pursues excellence!

Benefits

Better CFIs

- Better stall/spin awareness and better instruction given on this subject
- Opportunities for receiving mentoring
- Enhanced stall spin awareness driving quality instruction to clients.

Recurrent training

- Annual training required to maintain accreditation
- Must adhere to UPRTN Code of conduct

Marketing

- APIs are listed on the UPRTN website
- National recognition supporting GA safety initiatives.
- Collaborative marketing promoting the values of UPRT & Network members.

Miscellaneous

- $50/year dues
- Access to industry news
- UPRTN library
- JOIN a growing network of highly skilled professionals generating significant future opportunity.

Contact Us

uprtnetwork@gmail.com

www.uprtn.org