TBF at C&BUK19

TBF was once again present at the road passenger transport industry's premier event, Coach & Bus UK 19, held at the NEC in Birmingham during the first week of October. C&BUK19 is a major showcase for the industry, and this year had nearly 200 exhibitors and 75 of the latest models of bus and coach on display. For TBF, the event provides a great opportunity to meet and talk to visiting members, prospective members, employers and industry leaders. TBF was represented by development director Ian Barlex, accompanied by regional organisers Anne Hay and Michael Gibson. Our picture shows Anne and Michael waiting to chat to visitors to the TBF stand just before the show opened.

Tap to Board generous support for TBF

Also present at C&BUK19 was Tap to Board, a company developing and marketing new-generation, contactless-payment systems for the public transport sector. Tap to Board invited visitors to pay a small 'fare' to demonstrate their systems and very kindly offered to donate the proceeds to TBF.

Tap to Board has committed to continue to support our work in this way as they take their products on a nationwide roadtrip. Our picture shows Tap to Board director, Lee Davies, with Ian Barlex on their stand at C&BUK19. TBF is most grateful for Tap to Board's support of the charity.

SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED BY

New Patron

We are delighted to announce that Graham Vidler, chief executive of the Confederation of Passenger Transport UK, has agreed to come on board as a Patron of TBF. Graham succeeds his predecessor Simon Posner as Patron from the employers' association, and we are very grateful for his support for the charity.
