

Amie & John

Hi! We're Annie & John

Everyone always says you'll never meet the love of your life in a bar...but we totally did!

After we locked eyes, we danced all night long to a live band playing alternative rock music. Then when the bar closed we snuck into a hotel hot tub, got kicked out, then went to the beach and talked until sunrise... and one year later we were married!

Why We Want To Adopt

We starting trying to have kids soon after we got married, but have struggled with infertility for about 7 years. After a couple of miscarriages and multiple rounds of IVF, we finally feel that it is our calling to adopt children that are in need of a safe and loving home. We truly feel blessed that we are able to live such a beautiful life that is full of love and adventure, and we want nothing more than to share it with a little one(s) in need.

The life we envision For Our Family

We've been dreaming about growing our family since the day we met. Becoming parents is something we are deeply committed to, and we are ready to give a child a safe, loving, and supportive life. We will explore the outdoors with them, introduce them to as many adventures as we possibly can, love them unconditionally, give them stability, and show them what family means to us. We are excited for the late nights, the first milestones, the challenges, and the joys that come with raising children.

Thank you so much for being here.

We understand that considering adoption is deeply personal and comes with a lot of thought, emotion, and courage. We want to say from the start that we truly respect the weight of this decision and believe it should always be made freely, without pressure or expectation from anyone else.
