FOR RELEASE NOVEMBER 13, 2024

Unexpected time capsule found in closet

San Francisco, California – Tapestry Records is thrilled to announce the release of Soma Holiday’s unexpected time capsule of a sophomore album – Microdose. A collection of 5 songs, microdose will be released November 13, 2024 on Tapestry Records.

Soma Holiday was a staple of the San Francisco 80’s and 90’s music scene. Utilizing a strong DIY aesthetic, microdose was recorded by the band on analog tape in a Victorian carriage house located in the Lower Haight Ashbury District of San Francisco. Unfinished and lying dormant for 20 years, the tapes were rediscovered and transferred to digital.

The music is a window into a different time. The 90’s were less complicated, less stressful and for some, a whole lot more fun. As the 90’s alternative music influence comes full circle in 2024, microdose is authentic Indie Rock with new touches added, fresh for 2024. Taking advantage of the simplicity recording on 16 track tape provides, the finished sound is filled out with layers of vocal harmony and modern production techniques. On November 13, 2024 it’s finally here. Time to book a ticket and experience microdose.
