VOODOO MOUNTAIN BAND BIO

Voodoo Mountain Band is a high-energy hard rock band based in Monument, Colorado, delivering powerful performances of rock and metal favorites spanning the 1970s through today. From the driving grooves of Led Zeppelin to the intensity of Metallica and the theatrics of Ozzy Osbourne, the band brings a setlist built to ignite crowds and keep venues packed.

Known for tight musicianship, explosive guitar solos, and an engaging stage presence, Voodoo Mountain Band doesn't just play the songs — they bring them to life. Every show is designed to be exciting, fun, and unforgettable.

Voodoo Mountain Band was established in 2024, by brothers Tony and Larry Guidry, whose roots run deep in Louisiana's rich musical heritage. Descendants of a long line of musicians, the Guidry brothers were raised in a family where music wasn't just encouraged—it was a way of life.

Their father, Glynn Guidry, was a respected and influential figure in the Louisiana music scene from the late 1960s through the 1990s.

The family legacy extends further through Glynn's cousin Doug Kershaw, the legendary "Ragin' Cajun" known worldwide for his 1961 hit "Louisiana Man."

The name Voodoo Mountain reflects their deep Louisiana roots blended with their love for the mountains they now call home.

- The band is fronted by Steve "Nooch" Nuccio, who's powerful, soaring vocals perfectly match the band's hard rock edge.
- Lead guitarists Jeff "Pappy" Papenfuss and Dennis Bradley bring elite musicianship, blistering solos, and rich harmonies.
- The rock-solid rhythm section anchored by the Guidry brothers is defined by relentless energy, precision, and a fire that can't be taught.
- Rounding out the team is Wayne Swope, whose expert sound engineering ensures every show hits with clarity and power.

Voodoo Mountain Band is NOT just another cover band.

Their "Across the Decades" show has energized audiences with a collection of rock songs that defined generations, showcasing the evolution of rock music.
