COURSE INFORMATION:

This course will teach you how to identify deception, and get to the Truth quicker. You will be able to laser focus your investigations, and come to a quicker case resolve. You will recognize information in the words people use, that you have previously been missing!

This course is also the foundation for a successful Analytical Interview; removing the guess work from the interview and recognizing if and how deception is present. Using the subject's own words, you will be able to laser focus your interview questions, obtain more information, and more confessions.

Most deceptive statements contain a high percentage of truth.

This course teaches you to recognize truth from deception in verbal or written statements.

- Learn the psychological and linguistic principles behind the subject's chosen words.
 - Is the language based on experiential memory?
 - Is the subject psychologically in their own statement?
 - Learn the difference between Reliable and Un-reliable denials.

- From the subject's own words:
 - Determine what occurred and when it occurred.
 - Recognize where they purposely skipped over information within their language.
 - Identify where to focus questions during the interview.
 - Obtain information the subject has unknowingly revealed.
 - Identify what part of the language is unnecessary and why it is so important.
 - Understand the nature of the relationship to others in the statement.
 - Recognize major personality traits revealed in the subject's words.

- Students will be taught how to obtain a "pure," uncontaminated statement.

Students will be introduced to the principles of psycho-linguistic profiling, learned in advanced analysis. The profile is invaluable for all investigators and gives them a distinct edge during the interview.

Bringing you to the next level of investigations, in a fun, engaging setting.

Reviews:

This training was eye opening. To break down statements and notice what is hiding within, is powerful! I am amazed! This training has changed how I will interview in the future!

Special Agent Chuck R. - U.S. Marshals Service

In my 22 years as a police officer, I haven't had a training class this useful. I wish I would have known about Statement Analysis early in my career. I think of how much better my investigations could have been with this information...

Sgt. Steven M. - Phoenix PD

"This course is a game changer for investigations and in life. If you seek truth in any capacity, this material is a must have. It will reduce the investigation process, provide confidence to the investigator and most importantly, it will find truth. The instruction, material and content is phenomenal."

Lt. K. Scott - Mesa PD

"This is a course that every officer, new or seasoned, should attend. Even a veteran detective can get a lot out of this class. A Must Attend! I'm looking forward to the advanced class"

Det. B. Fairclough – Chandler PD SVU

I've attended a lot of training seminars during my law enforcement and private sector career and this was one of the best.

Investigator Bruce G. - American Express

Excellent content and instruction. I can't get enough of this. Thank you for all your help and knowledge.

CIA Westry W. – (RMIN) Rocky Mountain Information Network

Excellent class and very relevant to my investigations and polygraph exams. Thank you!

Special Agent Dave P. Homeland Security Investigations (polygraphist)

"This training is probably the best training I have had in my career..."

Det. A Love – Mesa PD ICU

Instructor Bio

Steven Johnson is a 28-year police veteran with 23 years as a detective, including 7 years on the elite Major Incident Response Team. Steve was awarded the Medal of Excellence for his expertise in the area of Interview and Interrogation. During his career, Steve obtained certifications as a Certified Voice Stress Analyst (lie detection), Certified Statement Analyst, and Certified Forensic Handwriting Analyst.

Steve is a Certified Statement Analyst, considered an expert in identifying deception, content, and psychological profile in verbal and written statements. Steve continues to work, train and maintain proficiency with some of the best statement analysts in the country.

Steve is also a Certified Forensic Handwriting Analyst, proficient in detecting deception, mental illness, drug use, sex abuse, violence & perpetrator potential, personality traits and more. Steve is a member of the International Association of Handwriting Analysts, and the American Society of Professional Graphologists.

During his law enforcement career, Steve found that Statement Profiling provided more information than either the polygraph or the CVSA could provide. Profiling what people said or wrote, provided the answers investigators traditionally sought through their interviews and investigations. It was a paradigm shift from the traditional investigative interviewing methods still used by most investigators today. This improved method became the focus of Steve's law enforcement career. He frequently consulted for investigators in and outside his own agency, and has been teaching investigators these techniques for the past ten years. The effectiveness of these techniques has been proven in hundreds of investigations and interviews.

Since the inception of Truth2Lies Analysis Group, Steve has taught the Advanced Statement Analysis and Profiling Techniques to hundreds of investigators from law enforcement, government, legal and corporate entities.

Steve frequently consults for law enforcement as well as other investigators from around the nation. Steve has analyzed and profiled for a wide variety of cases, including but not limited to: anonymous author, homicide, suicide, arson, robbery, fraud, forgery, theft, threats, kidnapping, sex crimes, hate crimes, elder abuse, domestic violence, threat assessment, hiring and internal investigations.
