The Entity Relationship Diagram shows the different relationships between the users and entities in the same sense that the class diagram shows the interaction each user has with each individual class.