

Based on a true story

My Little Miracles

FILM BY
ANDREA A JACKSON

Chaosof2productions

MY LITTLE MIRACLES: THE FILM

"My Little Miracles" is a poignant documentary that chronicles the extraordinary and heart-wrenching journey of premature twins born at 24 weeks and their remarkable battle for survival. Through intimate interviews, candid footage, and expert insights, the film explores the emotional rollercoaster experienced by the twins' family as they navigate the uncertain waters of the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU).

The story begins with the unexpected early arrival of twins Emma and Abby, weighing a little over 1 pound each. Facing daunting odds and numerous medical complications, including underdeveloped lungs and fragile immune systems, the twins are immediately whisked away to the NICU, where they begin their fight for life.

Viewers are taken on a journey filled with hope, setbacks, and small victories. The documentary highlights the family's journey and teaches parents and caregivers how to be their child's advocate while also paying tribute to the phenomenal efforts of the medical team as they work tirelessly to provide the twins with the specialized care they need to thrive. From round-the-clock monitoring to delicate surgical procedures to the love and support they give, every moment is a testament to the medical staff's dedication and skill and the family's love and dedication.

Throughout the documentary, viewers are reminded of the fragility of life and the power of the human spirit to overcome even the most daunting challenges. "My Little Miracles" is a testament to the miracles that can occur in the most unlikely of circumstances and a tribute to the resilience of the human spirit. It is a story of heartache, love, hope, and gratitude.

Why this Film

Certain pathways life places us on are heartbreaking to walk through, and you know when you survive them, it is your job to share your story to help others; that is this film for me. By shedding light on the emotional and medical challenges faced by parents, caregivers, and medical staff, this story will foster deeper understanding, compassion, and support for those navigating the fragile world of premature and critically ill infants.

Andrea A Jackson

Target Audience:

Parents of premature babies, healthcare professionals, medical students, and individuals passionate about children's health

Partner with Influencers and Advocates:

Collaborate with organizations that focus on premature babies and healthcare institutions, parenting organizations

Host Screenings and Events:

Organize screenings at hospitals, universities, film festivals, and community centers to raise awareness about the documentary. Q&A sessions with filmmakers, medical professionals, or families featured in the film can enhance audience engagement.

Press Releases and Media Outreach:

Draft press releases and pitch stories to relevant media outlets, including healthcare magazines, parenting blogs, and local newspapers and organizations related to neonatal care.

Distribution Plan:

Film Festivals: Submit the Documentary to prestigious film festivals with a focus on documentaries and healthcare, such as the Sundance Film Festival, Tribeca Film Festival, or Hot Docs.

Streaming Platforms:

Approach streaming platforms like Netflix, Hulu, Amazon Prime Video, or HBO Max to negotiate distribution deals.

