A MESSAGE FROM THE WORSHIPFUL MASTER

WORSHIPFUL MASTER BRYON HOWE

Phoenicians,

To say this term has had its ups and downs is a complete understatement. Setting the craft to work has become a challenge to all. It requires dedication, understanding, and commitment to the Brotherhood. I expected nothing more or less than I have given to the Craft. I have never asked anyone to do things I have not done myself. I thank each one of you, active or not, for the support this term. We have been making masons, advancing masons, and squaring away our ritual. We have a few brothers who are going for master lecturer and master ritualist. I would like to see more brothers and families getting involved in the Lodge events. We are not a party lodge, well a little, but without families, we would not be here. Get your families to come to charity work, fundraising, and youth group support.

The theme for 2024 – Set the Craft to Work

Respectfully and fraternally,

WM Bryon Howe
Worshipful Master 2015, 2024

A Return to Tradition - 2025 theme

These longstanding traditions of the Master as a provider of instruction and of the Lodge as a setting for the pursuit of Light and wisdom have experienced something of a resurgence in recent years. Although during the twentieth century, Light and Instruction was not uncommon for the Master to be re-conceptualized as a corporate “chief executive” who was by definition too busy to deal with the task of educating his brethren, this model went against the grain of Calcott’s Charge to the Master and resulted in the denigration and neglect of Masonic education within the majority of lodges. Today, lodges wishing to return to the traditional design of the Craft may rely upon the symbolism associated with the Master’s office—namely, the emblem of the Square and his identification with the rising Sun—to restore the educational mandate of the Master and to re-orient the instructional activities of the Lodge. The Square is used “to bring rude matter into form. The Apprentice Mason, symbolized by the Rough Ashlar, is brought to the Master to receive knowledge. In relative darkness, he beholds the Light of the symbolic Sun through the medium of the Master and hears his words of luminous instruction. This pedagogical relationship lies at the heart of the Masonic tradition. The Master will be most effective in this role if he commits himself to an ongoing exploration of the symbolism and teachings of Craft Freemasonry. As Albert G. Mackey sagely observed in the 1865 edition of his Text Book on Masonic Jurisprudence:

An educated man, however, well-skilled in general literature and science, will make an incompetent Master of a Lodge if he does not devote his attention to the peculiar science of our Order. [...] It is evident that a successful teacher—and the Master is, in an emphatic sense, a teacher—must qualify himself by a diligent investigation of these symbols and allegories—the myths and legends of Freemasonry—their mystical application, and the whole design of the Institution in this, its most important feature, must constitute his study.

A MESSAGE FROM THE JUNIOR WARDEN

WB STEVE DILDA— JR WARDEN

From the South Gate;

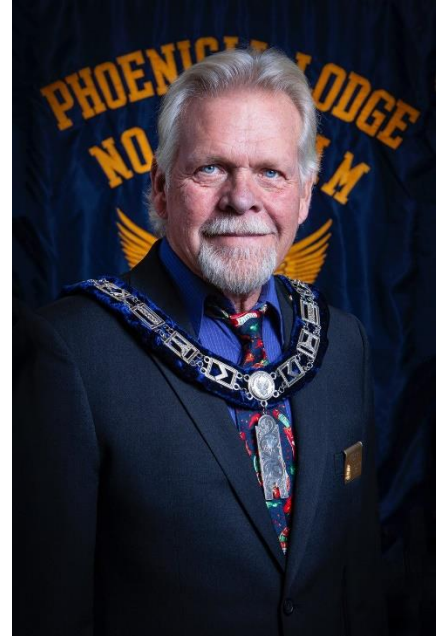

As we approach the Labor Day weekend, I'm trying to remember what Labor Day stands for: an annual celebration of the social and economic achievements of American workers. Also celebrated in Canada, it marks the unofficial end of summer. History: signed into law as a national holiday on June 28, 1894 by President Grover Cleveland. The first Labor Day parade took place in New York City on September 5, 1882 when 10,000 New Yorkers did not show up to work and instead marched from New York's City Hall to Union Square in protest of poor working conditions. Yay, New Yorkers.

Pondering: The 3 Lesser Lights, as the Entered Apprentice is taught, enable us to see the HB, S & C. Does this mean that they should be turned on before the alter has been arranged and turned off after the alter has been disarranged?

I continue to ponder that the 3 lesser lights represent the sun, moon and the Master of the Lodge and that the Master should govern his lodge with equal regularity. Well, while it is true that the sun rules the day, because without the sun there would be no daylight. But, while the moon, with its significant centrifugal powers on the earth, supposedly governs the night, it does not show up every night. And, without the moon, the night does just fine. And when the moon is visible it shows the evils of nighttime; wolves howling, witches riding their brooms, human crime is at its heights, etc. Hmmm.... So how can the Master rule and govern his lodge with that same equal regularity? Just curious, now go back to your Labor Day celebrations, be safe and enjoy your extra day free from your labors.

Fraternally,

WB Steve Dildea

Brethren -

Masonically, Twin Peaks is busy like Phoenicia with 3 FCs and 7 EAs all advancing steadily to becoming members in good standing. Like Phoenicia, we are a little Lodge and putting on degrees is a challenge, although we rarely have to call on other Lodges to help, and then only in minor parts. Mentoring these new guys is the greater challenge, and it's distressing to sometimes have to remind our mentors that they need to keep applying a gentle kick in the pants to our candidates in a timely but friendly manner. The days of waiting for the candidate to let the mentor know when the next available convenient date/time to meet are LONG gone, but some of our mentors (especially the more seasoned ones) are having a HARD time coming around to that way of thinking.

I know that you will find this a shock, but this is my fourth year as secretary in Twin Peaks (which with 3 years in Arizona and 1 year previously in Utah, makes 8 years so far), and there is a good probability that I will need to serve one more year as Secretary, although I have FLAT OUT informed them that if somebody doesn't step up for 2026, then they are in for a lotta trouble. -- nuff said there.

I am also a recognized "Master Ritualist / Master Lecturer" in the Grand Lodge of Utah, which means that I am available to give ANY part of ANY degree (including ALL the lectures) with only 72 hours' notice. Surprised? I am also the de facto head of the Esoteric Education Committee (currently a committee of one), and we have held several Esoteric Nights at the Lodge where I have been the sole presenter. I love doing it, but I hate to admit (but probably) that I have an unconscious bias with regards to both my understanding of these things, and how to best apply them in real life. MORE members to help, PLEASE!

Finally, I received the 2023 "Administrator of the Year" award, which is the same thing as Secretary of the Year in Arizona. So, I must be doing something right? Oh, and December 19th, 2024 will be my 25th anniversary in Freemasonry. Kewl.

Regarding my IMMEDIATE family:

1. Laura is doing well. She is now doing remote contract work for Infosys as an agent for Vanguard in their institutional 401(k) department. No surprise here, but she is recognized as a subject matter expert and she is mentoring several coworkers on the finer details of both 401(k) knowledge as well as how data processing and reporting actually works. She loves being a grandmother, is delighted that Chris is living with us again (see below), and is really looking forward to retirement! She's begun kicking her needlework, cross-stitch and other artsy decorative textiles stuff into high gear.
2. My son Christopher moved back to Salt Lake City from Portsmouth VA, where he was a nuclear-space qualified mechanic rigger at the Navy yard. He primarily worked on US nuclear powered attack submarines like the 688 (Los Angeles Class), Seawolf and Virginia classes. He is now working as a parts man and quoting specialist for Intermountain Lift Truck here in Salt Lake. He lives with us. Since our 1348 sqft basement was being completely ignored by Laura and myself, having him move in with us has been a smart move for both of us. He helps with the mortgage payment (with the clearly stated and slightly nefarious intention of inheriting the ol' homestead when Laura and I are called back to the Great Creator.) Oh, and Chris is a Fellow Craft in Twin Peaks Lodge 32. I am his mentor. We are tentatively scheduling his Master Mason degree for August 19th.
3. I now drive a school bus for the Jordan School District. The pay sucks but the job is great. Today's kids get such a bad rap. Of the 108 kids I drove to/from school last year, I only had about 3 that gave me any real problems and another 10 or so who don't understand safety rules or show respect. The other 95 are as cute as a batch of puppies. Not to worry. We're set from a retirement standpoint. Won't be travelling to see Europe every year, but we aren't going to be living in a cardboard house feasting on Alpo every night, either.
4. Mat, Heather and Aurora are all doing well. Mat and Heather both have employment at Fidelity Investments here in Salt Lake. Fortunately, both are part-time remote which makes it easier for them to raise their rather precocious daughter, Aurora, who is also our only grandchild. As you can imagine, that young lady is being spoiled rotten, the responsibility for which can be laid squarely at the feet of her grandmother, which is no surprise at all. Mat has come out to a few meetings in Twin Peaks, and even helped out with Chris' FC degree when our Jr. Deacon was unable to attend. It was nice to see Arizona ritual performed so well in a Utah Lodge (HAHAHA), and additionally, all the brethren kind of stood up and took notice of how the Deacons (who were Mat and myself), performed our rod-work and floor-work. GO TEAM! Now that Mat is fully employed, he has told me that he really wants to affiliate with Twin Peaks, which, of course, I am wholly in favor of. Putting Chris and Mat back together will add an even greater dynamism to a Lodge which is seeing its average age drop considerably due to the youth of our newest members. The old guys are about to have their world rocked some, and I think that this is very good.

Congratulations to Worshipful Brother Zeilenger on 60 years of service. That guy is just too cool for school. I sure miss you guys, but being semi-retired, excessive travel runs contrary to prudent financial planning and fiscal responsibility. Both Mat and I plan on attending Worshipful Brother Bryon's December 14th elevation to the Honorary Legion of Honor in Arizona DeMolay, so I'm hoping that we will be able to spend a night catching up with our Phoenicia brethren. Half Moon, anyone?

Fraternally and cordially,

Glen

The officers of Phoenicia Lodge No. 58 express their gratitude to all the brethren who have served the Lodge as Masters and who continue to serve as Past Masters. They who have gone before us have laid the foundation and the lower stories of the speculative building that we call "Phoenicia Lodge" for which we are indebted. We especially thank those Past Masters who continue to serve the Lodge that we may ever continue to build a magnificent edifice, in service to mankind and to the Great Architect who has given us every good and great thing and whose forgiveness we all rely upon.
