

The animals said that they would help Shelly and Shelldon to tell everyone they could about how to keep the oceans healthy. They all said they would keep their new home clean. The turtles moved in and lived happily in a beautiful, pollution-free home!

