

They talked with their families and were told they had to move again. All of them became very sad when they found out that they needed to leave.