

Finally, the families of turtles found a place that seemed perfect. It had a big coral reef for Shelly and Shelldon to meet other animals and play. It had different ocean plants for fish and turtles to live in. And most importantly, it had other animals that welcomed them in.

