

Spying –The Name of the Game.

The Democrats angst over AG Barr's assertion that the Trump campaign was spied on is funny. The fact that a FISA warrant was sought supports that spying was going to happen upon its issuance. The Obama Administration was already exposed for illegal spying on 20 AP phone lines which affected many journalists. They spied on Jim Rosen of Fox News and his parents. So there is already a history of abuse of power for political reasons.

If you peek over your fence into your neighbor's backyard you are spying, surveilling, snooping, eavesdropping, being inquisitive or nosy. Pick a word from the list and the action is the same. You are infringing on your neighbor's right to privacy.

The push by the liberal factions to suppress the use of the word spying in this case is really "New Speak", in the Orwellian sense, and underscores the left's desire to control the use of words.

A rose by any other name is still a rose. The Obama Administration, for whatever reason, spied on the Trump campaign.
