Third Sunday of Easter

GOD'S PLAN

Saint Peter speaks to us twice today. In the first reading, we hear an excerpt from his sermon on Pentecost; in the second, part of his first letter. Once a frightened, uneducated fisherman who often said just the wrong thing, now Peter is speaking what he knows to be true. Everything Jesus had said now makes sense. His death and rising were all part of God's plan, and our faith and hope can be centered on God.

Today's Gospel tells the story of Jesus' walk to Emmaus with two of the disciples. Frightened, sad, and confused, the two of them don't recognize Jesus, who tells them what we heard Peter say above: All this had to happen as part of God's plan. In the end, these disciples recognize Jesus as we are to recognize him—in the breaking of the bread.

TODAY'S READINGS

First Reading — God has raised the crucified Jesus, who now pours forth the Holy Spirit upon us (Acts 2:14, 22-33).

Psalm — Lord, you will show us the path of life (Psalm 16).

Second Reading — Our faith and hope are in God, who raised Jesus from the dead (1 Peter 1:17-21).

Gospel — Through his words and in the breaking of the bread, the risen Christ made himself known to two disciples on their way to Emmaus (Luke 24:13-35).

Dear Parishioners,

In this time of spiritual hunger without being able to receive the Bread of Life, we need to feed the soul with spiritual food that fills it. The Word of God is that food that the soul needs right now. The Church offers us beautiful readings at Mass during this Easter season, not forgetting the beauty of the texts for Holy Week and Lent that preceded it.

We also need to go to the shepherds that God has chosen to guide his people at this time. As we have not done in other years, many of us have opened our ears to listen to the words of our Bishop and, of course, those of the Holy Father. The Holy Father's homilies of the last Sundays have been wonderful.

I invite you to listen to the homilies of the Holy Father. They are a blast of fresh air for our time. If you have not done so, listen to the homilies of his Urbi et Orbe blessing of March 27, Palm Sunday, the Easter Vigil, and Divine Mercy Sunday. I expect a great homily for this Third Sunday of Easter. On YouTube you can find the videos; I recommend two pages: Vatican News and EWTN. For those who want to have them in writing, they can be found on the page of the Holy See: vatican.va

Below you find an excerpt of the Holy Father's homily on Divine Mercy Sunday.

Yours Sincerely, Fr. Arturo

"On this feast of Divine Mercy, the most beautiful message comes from Thomas, the disciple who arrived late; he was the only one missing. But the Lord waited for Thomas. Mercy does not abandon those who stay behind. Now, while we are looking forward to a slow and arduous recovery from the pandemic, there is a danger that we will forget those who are left behind. The risk is that we may then be struck by an even worse virus, that of selfish indifference. A virus spread by the thought that life is better if it is better for me, and that everything will be fine if it is fine for me".

Crucifixion: the Ultimate Punishment

It is difficult for Jesus' modern-day followers to re-create the sense of horror that his reference to a cross must have evoked. Crucifixion was the cruelest and most degrading form of capital punishment known to the ancient world, a means of execution reserved for slaves, rebels, and violent criminals, and always carried out in public so as to serve as a powerful deterrent. According to the Roman statesman Cicero, it was the "extreme and ultimate punishment of slaves," "the cruelest and most disgusting penalty." Josephus, a first-century Jewish historian, called it "the most wretched of deaths." The condemned person was forced to carry the crossbeam to the site of execution, where it would be fastened to the upright beam. Then the victim would be either nailed or tied to the cross and left to die, which sometimes occurred only after days of torment.

Tercer Domingo de Pascua

EL PLAN DE DIOS

Hoy san Pedro nos habla dos veces. En la primera lectura, escuchamos un pasaje de su sermón en Pentecostés; en la segunda, parte de su primera carta. Antes, un aterrizado pescador con poca educación quien a menudo decía lo equivocado, el Pedro de ahora habla sobre la verdad que conoce. Todo lo que Jesús había dicho ahora tiene sentido. Su muerte y resurrección eran parte del plan de Dios, y nuestra fe y esperanza pueden centrarse en Dios.

El Evangelio de hoy describe el relato del camino a Emaús en el que Jesús se une a dos discípulos. Atemorizados, tristes y confundidos aquellos dos no reconocen a Jesús, quien les dice lo que escuchamos a Pedro decir arriba: todo esto tuvo que suceder como parte del plan de Dios. Al final, estos discípulos reconocen a Jesús así como nosotros debemos reconocerle –al partir el pan.

Por los Diáconos, fieles en su servicio a la Palabra y a los pobres, para que puedan ser un símbolo estimulante para toda la Iglesia.

Notas del Párroco

© J. S. Paluch Co., Inc.

Apreciados Parroquianos,

En este tiempo de hambre espiritual sin poder recibir el Pan de Vida, necesitamos alimentar el alma con un alimento espiritual que la llene. La Palabra de Dios es ese alimento que el alma necesita ahora mismo. La Iglesia nos ofrece lecturas hermosas en la Misa durante este tiempo de Pascua, sin olvidar la belleza de los textos de la Semana Santa y la Cuaresma que la precedió.

Necesitamos también acudir a los pastores que Dios ha escogido para guiar a su pueblo en este momento. Como no lo habíamos hecho en otros años, muchos de nosotros hemos abierto nuestros oídos a escuchar las palabras de nuestro Obispo y, por supuesto, las del Santo Padre. Las homilías de Santo Padre de los últimos domingos han sido maravillosas.

Yo los invito a que escuchemos las homilías del Santo Padre. Son una ráfaga de aire fresco para nuestro tiempo. Si no lo han hecho, escuchen las homilías de su bendición Urbi et Orbe del 27 de marzo, del Domingo de Ramos, de la Vigilia Pascual, del Domingo de la Divina Misericordia. Yo espero una hermosa homilía este Tercer Domingo de Pascua. En YouTube se pueden encontrar los videos; les recomiendo esta página de Internet: Diócesis de San Sebastián. Para los que las quieran tener por escrito, se pueden encontrar en la página de la Santa Sede: vatican.va

Abajo se transcribe un trozo de la homilía del Santo Padre del Domingo de la Divina Misericordia.

Cordialmente, Padre Arturo

“En esta fiesta de la Divina Misericordia el anuncio más hermoso se da a través del discípulo que llegó más tarde. Sólo él faltaba, Tomás, pero el Señor lo esperó. La misericordia no abandona a quien se queda atrás. Ahora, mientras pensamos en una lenta y ardua recuperación de la pandemia, se insinúa justamente este peligro: olvidar al que se quedó atrás. El riesgo es que nos golpee un virus todavía peor, el del egoísmo indiferente, que se transmite al pensar que la vida mejora si me va mejor a mí, que todo irá bien si me va bien a mí”.

Crucifixión: el Castigo Supremo

Es difícil para los seguidores modernos de Jesús recrear la sensación de horror que su referencia a una cruz debe haber evocado. La crucifixión era la forma más cruel y degradante de la pena capital conocida en el mundo antiguo, un medio de ejecución reservado para esclavos, rebeldes y criminales violentos, y siempre se realizaba en público para servir como un poderoso elemento disuasorio. Según el estadista romano Cicerón, era el “castigo extremo y último de los esclavos”, “la pena más cruel y repugnante”. Josefo, un historiador judío del primer siglo, lo llamó “la muerte más miserable”. La persona condenada se vio obligada a llevar la viga transversal al sitio de ejecución, donde se fijaría a la viga vertical. Luego, la víctima sería clavada o atada a la cruz y se la dejaría morir, lo que a veces ocurría solo después de días de tormento.

Where is Emmaus?

Pope Benedict XVI, Angelus April 6th, 2008

The locality of Emmaus has not been identified with certainty. There are various hypotheses and this one is not without an evocativeness of its own for it allows us to think that Emmaus actually represents every place: the road that leads there is the road every Christian, every person, takes. The Risen Jesus makes himself our travelling companion as we go on our way, to rekindle the warmth of faith and hope in our hearts and to break the bread of eternal life.

In the disciples' conversation with the unknown wayfarer the words the evangelist Luke puts in the mouth of one of them are striking: "We had hoped..." (Lk 24: 21). This verb in the past tense tells all: we believed, we followed, we hoped..., but now everything is over. Even Jesus of Nazareth, who had shown himself in his words and actions to be a powerful prophet, has failed, and we are left disappointed.

This drama of the disciples of Emmaus appears like a reflection of the situation of many Christians of our time: it seems that the hope of faith has failed. Faith itself enters a crisis because of negative experiences that make us feel abandoned and betrayed even by the Lord. But this road to Emmaus on which we walk can become the way of a purification and maturation of our belief in God.

Also today we can enter into dialogue with Jesus, listening to his Word. Today too he breaks bread for us and gives himself as our Bread. And so the meeting with the Risen Christ that is possible even today gives us a deeper and more authentic faith tempered, so to speak, by the fire of the Paschal Event; a faith that is robust because it is nourished not by human ideas but by the Word of God and by his Real Presence in the Eucharist.

Dónde queda Emaús?

Papa Benedicto XVI, Angelus 6 de abril de 2008

La localidad de Emaús no ha sido identificada con certeza. Hay diversas hipótesis, y esto es sugestivo, porque nos permite pensar que Emaús representa en realidad todos los lugares: el camino que lleva a Emaús es el camino de todo cristiano, más aún, de todo hombre. En nuestros caminos Jesús resucitado se hace compañero de viaje para reavivar en nuestro corazón el calor de la fe y de la esperanza y partir el pan de la vida eterna.

En la conversación de los discípulos con el peregrino desconocido impresiona la expresión que el evangelista san Lucas pone en los labios de uno de ellos: «Nosotros esperábamos...» (Lc 24, 21). Este verbo en pasado lo dice todo: Hemos creído, hemos seguido, hemos esperado..., pero ahora todo ha terminado. También Jesús de Nazaret, que se había manifestado como un profeta poderoso en obras y palabras, ha fracasado, y nosotros estamos decepcionados.

Este drama de los discípulos de Emaús es como un espejo de la situación de muchos cristianos de nuestro tiempo. Al parecer, la esperanza de la fe ha fracasado. La fe misma entra en crisis a causa de experiencias negativas que nos llevan a sentirnos abandonados por el Señor. Pero este camino hacia Emaús, por el que avanzamos, puede llegar a ser el camino de una purificación y maduración de nuestra fe en Dios.

También hoy podemos entrar en diálogo con Jesús escuchando su palabra. También hoy, él parte el pan para nosotros y se entrega a sí mismo como nuestro pan. Así, el encuentro con Cristo resucitado, que es posible también hoy, nos da una fe más profunda y auténtica, templada, por decirlo así, por el fuego del acontecimiento pascual; una fe sólida, porque no se alimenta de ideas humanas, sino de la Palabra de Dios y de su presencia real en la Eucaristía.
