

Happy Nurses Week

Dear SAINA members,

As we celebrate the nurses' week, let us first pay homage to our fallen colleagues who made the ultimate sacrifice in their service to the patients struggling with the COVID-19 Pandemic. While appreciating what they have done for our fellow human beings, we also need to learn the lessons of how we should avoid falling victims to the very same disease we are fighting against by learning more and more about the strength of the virus from scientific sources and apply that knowledge to protect us while helping others. We as an organization have the duty to convey our concerns to the Institutions we work and the Governmental agencies responsible to protect all health care workers.

The period of lockdown has given us a rare opportunity to look at ourselves and our families to find strength to meet the challenges we face at work.

Let me send you all, my personal thanks for the passion with which you go to work each day and your compassion and kindness in the care you provide to each of your patients. You truly deserve the love and trust you have earned from your patients and their families during this crisis.

Salute to all heroes!

Thank You,

Pressanna Parackal

President of SAINA.
