

What is a CEBH?

CEBH: Certified Eco Building Hygienist™ is a professionally trained and certified individual who understands and practices sustainable, healthy cleaning procedures in office buildings, schools, universities, and other public and private institutions.

A CEBH has gone through rigorous theoretical and practical training who understands the relationship between environmental pollutants, humans, animals and the planet.

The CEBH program is based on science and health, current standards for green cleaning, safety, and promoting healthy environments; inside and out.

The CEBH practices the most current procedures for disinfecting surfaces, particularly during flu and cold seasons and when a pandemic threatens.

The CEBH must renew certification annually, and is updated on current cleaning, health, safety, and environmental standards.

Companies and organizations who offer the CEBH certification to their staff benefit by increased efficiencies, compliance to standards (in particular, OSHA), operational savings and marketability. A Certified Eco Building Hygienist™ stands out in appearance, performance and creating positive customer relations. Turn-over rates and new hires are improved when employees are trained, certified and valued as professionals.
