Evidence - Transparency - Independent Verification

ACCOUNTABILITY | INTEGRITY | RULE OF LAW

Presidential Policy Draft

By the authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and the laws of the United States of America, it is hereby ordered as follows:

Section 1. Purpose.

It shall be the policy of the United States to establish, through evidence rather than speculation, a complete and independently verifiable account of the circumstances surrounding the death of Jeffrey Epstein in federal custody on August 10, 2019.

Sec. 2. Comprehensive Records Review.

The Attorney General shall direct the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Federal Bureau of Prisons, and other appropriate executive agencies to identify, preserve, collect, and review all federal records concerning Epstein's detention and death, including autopsy reports and photographs; toxicology, pathology, and forensic evidence; surveillance video and associated metadata; correctional-officer logs; cell and housing records; medical records; communications; incident reports; evidence logs; chain-of-custody documentation; witness interviews; investigative files; and records concerning malfunctioning, missing, unavailable, deleted, overwritten, or corrupted surveillance equipment or recordings.

Sec. 3. Independent Forensic Verification.

The Attorney General shall establish an independent forensic review by appropriately qualified experts who did not participate in the original death investigation. The review shall evaluate whether the available physical, medical, digital, documentary, and testimonial evidence supports or contradicts the official determination concerning the cause and manner of death and shall identify material evidentiary gaps or inconsistencies.

Sec. 4. Surveillance and Digital Evidence.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation shall conduct a forensic accounting of all known surveillance systems covering relevant areas of the Metropolitan Correctional Center during the period surrounding Epstein's death. The accounting shall identify which cameras were operational, malfunctioning, obstructed, or otherwise unavailable; what footage existed; what footage remains available; whether any recording was lost, deleted, overwritten, corrupted, altered, or otherwise unavailable; and whether preserved recordings have been authenticated and maintained with documented chain of custody.

Sec. 5. Reconstruction of Final 72 Hours.

The Department of Justice shall reconstruct, to the maximum extent supported by available evidence, Epstein's final 72 hours in federal custody. The reconstruction shall address staffing assignments, inmate checks, housing decisions, cellmate status, medical contacts, communications, visitors, movements, unusual incidents, and any material deviations from Federal Bureau of Prisons policies or procedures.

Sec. 6. Personnel and Witness Review.

Investigators shall review prior interviews and, where lawful and reasonably necessary, conduct additional interviews of correctional personnel, medical personnel, investigators, contractors, witnesses, and other persons possessing material information concerning Epstein's detention, security conditions, medical condition, discovery, death, or the handling of evidence thereafter.

Sec. 7. Evidence of Outside Involvement or Obstruction.

The review shall evaluate credible evidence, if any, indicating homicide, assistance, conspiracy, obstruction of justice, destruction or alteration of evidence, false statements, improper governmental activity, or involvement by any domestic or foreign person, organization, intelligence service, or government. No conclusion concerning such involvement shall be presumed in advance of the evidence.

Sec. 8. Preservation of Evidence and Records.

All executive departments and agencies possessing potentially relevant records, physical evidence, digital evidence, communications, photographs, video, metadata, or investigative materials shall preserve such material in accordance with applicable law and shall take appropriate measures to prevent unauthorized destruction, alteration, deletion, overwriting, or disposal.

Sec. 9. Classified and Protected Information.

Relevant classified information shall be reviewed for declassification and public release to the maximum extent permitted by law. Information may remain withheld or redacted where lawfully necessary to protect national security, intelligence sources and methods, active investigative interests, grand-jury secrecy, legally protected personal information, or other compelling interests recognized by law.

Sec. 10. Protection of Victims.

Personally identifying information concerning victims of sexual abuse, minors, and other legally protected individuals shall remain appropriately protected and redacted. Nothing in this order shall require public disclosure that unnecessarily exposes victims or compromises their privacy or safety.

Sec. 11. Presidential and Congressional Report.

Within 120 days of the date of this order, the Attorney General shall provide the President and appropriate congressional committees with a comprehensive report describing the evidence reviewed, the results of independent forensic verification, material inconsistencies or missing evidence, conclusions supported by the record, and recommendations for additional investigation or prosecution where warranted by the evidence.

Sec. 12. Public Report.

Following completion of the review, the Attorney General shall release an unclassified public report and supporting records to the maximum extent permitted by law. The report shall clearly distinguish established facts, expert conclusions, unresolved questions, evidentiary limitations, and allegations that could not be substantiated.

Sec. 13. Referrals for Investigation.

If the review identifies credible evidence of criminal conduct, obstruction, evidence tampering, false statements, civil-rights violations, official misconduct, or other violations of federal law, the Attorney General shall refer such matters to the appropriate investigative or prosecutorial authority consistent with Department of Justice policies and applicable law.

Sec. 14. General Provisions.

(a) Nothing in this order shall impair authority granted by law to an executive department or agency or its head. (b) This order shall be implemented consistent with applicable law and subject to the availability of appropriations. (c) Nothing in this order shall be construed to predetermine the cause or manner of Epstein's death or the guilt or innocence of any person. (d) This order creates no right or benefit enforceable at law or in equity against the United States or any other person.
