Presidential Day-One Policy Draft

Fogel G. Shimp

Independent Candidate for President — 2028

ACCOUNTABILITY | INTEGRITY | RULE OF LAW

Purpose. This proposed order establishes a federal policy of aggressive enforcement against fraud, extortion, coercion, threats, abuse, exploitation, poisoning, trafficking, financial schemes, or other independently unlawful conduct carried out under claims of witchcraft, curses, supernatural power, occult authority, or similar representations. It does not create a federal offense based solely on a person's belief, religion, speech, identity, or peaceful private practice.

Section 1. Policy

It shall be the policy of the executive branch to protect the public from criminal schemes and harmful conduct that use purported supernatural powers, curses, rituals, or occult claims as instruments of intimidation, deception, financial exploitation, violence, or abuse.

Sec. 2. Federal Enforcement Initiative

The Attorney General, in coordination with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other appropriate agencies, shall identify and prioritize conduct involving: (a) fraudulent demands for money or property based on purported curses or supernatural threats; (b) extortion or coercion; (c) physical abuse, poisoning, kidnapping, trafficking, or violence; (d) exploitation of children, elderly persons, or other vulnerable persons; and (e) organized schemes violating federal criminal law.

Sec. 3. Consumer and Financial Protection

The Attorney General and appropriate federal consumer-protection agencies shall review deceptive commercial practices involving paid claims of guaranteed supernatural results, curse removal, magical investment or health guarantees, or similar representations, and shall enforce applicable fraud and consumer-protection laws to the maximum extent authorized by law.

Sec. 4. Interagency Report

Within 120 days, the Attorney General shall submit to the President a report identifying existing federal authorities, documented patterns of criminal exploitation, enforcement gaps, and any legislation recommended to strengthen penalties for fraud, coercion, abuse, or violence committed through purported supernatural threats or representations.

Sec. 5. Rule of Construction

Nothing in this order shall be construed to authorize investigation, prosecution, punishment, or adverse governmental action based solely upon constitutionally protected belief, religious exercise, expression, association, or peaceful conduct. Enforcement shall require independently unlawful conduct and shall be carried out consistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States.

Sec. 6. General Provisions

(a) This order shall be implemented consistent with applicable law and subject to the availability of appropriations. (b) Nothing herein shall impair authority granted by law to an executive department, agency, or its head. (c) This order creates no right or benefit enforceable at law against the United States, its agencies, officers, employees, or agents.
