THE CAUSE

Youth of color, especially those from America's underserved communities, are grossly underrepresented in STEM/STEAM careers and college pursuits. STEM jobs are growing faster than any other US sector. Failure to achieve diversity and significant minority representation is a threat to the US dominance of the global technological economy.

In addition, failure to provide pathways for diversity in high-demand and high-paying sectors has trans-generational consequences on people and communities. The "Diversity & Advancement in Arts and Science" Gala supports community organizations that are committed to bridge the achievement gap and provide supportive services to underserved youth and communities.

ARTS | Inner City Youth Orchestra of Los Angeles (ICYOLA)

ICYOLA is a California 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation that transforms the lives and minds of young people in Inner City Los Angeles through high-quality music education. It teaches inner city youth the great music of the world, and provides opportunities for them to perform that music in the most magnificent settings of our community.

ICYOLA prepares its members for advanced study and high-caliber success in music, and instills the ancillary benefits that music instruction provides: problem-solving skills, critical thinking, self-reliance, selfconfidence, self-discipline, and the crystallization and pursuit of meaningful purpose.

ICYOLA offers four programs: the ICYOLA Orchestra Program, the Los Angeles Orchestra Fellowship (that it operates in collaboration with the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra and the Thornton School of Music at the University of Southern California), the South Side Chicago Youth Orchestra (a new sister orchestra to ICYOLA); and the Youth Orchestra of Tsakane, South Africa.

SCIENCE | BRIDGE BUILDERS FOUNDATION
