

Be the Lumberjack

The Lumberjack spends their day chopping wood, all for the sake of providing for their family. While the labor is arduous and grueling, this is their passion, so they persevere. Providing the opportunity of warmth in order to preserve humanity in a cold world.

Their efforts are worth five dollars they determined, but they know you need the warmth so they only charge you four dollars.

They hope you see their worth and decide it inconvenient to pay the asking price and instead will tip them a dollar.

If you slip the five in, thank you, and if you put four in, you're welcome.