

A RECENT EXAMPLE: NGARRAK NAKORANG WILAM PARK

- After an extensive local community campaign, in 2021 the Victorian Government agreed to convert the never-to-be-built Healesville Freeway reserve land to public open space.
- The 35 ha reserve runs for approximately 3.5 kilometres from Springvale Road in Forest Hill, to Boronia Road in Vermont.
- The reserve has been transferred to Parks Victoria to manage and establish as a new linear public park.
- The Victorian Government has committed $10.5 million to establish the park.
- Tenders have been let and Ngarrak Nakorang Wilam Park is now under construction, due to complete in 2027.
