

TRIPLE THREAT

COLUMBIA VALLEY RED WINE

TASTING NOTES:

Triple Threat is an inviting and rich wine, with blackberry and plum aromas pouring from the glass. Bold dark fruits and alluring notes of coffee and sage welcome you with vibrancy and just the right amount of firmness on the finish. This wine is powerful enough to pair with red meat or anything from the grill, but smooth enough for anything else you can find in the fridge – including last night's pizza. Whether you enjoy it with takeout or a four course meal, it's best paired with good friends.

Alc. 14.1% by Vol.

PRIMARY FLAVORS:

Blackberry, coffee, sage, blueberries & cracked black pepper

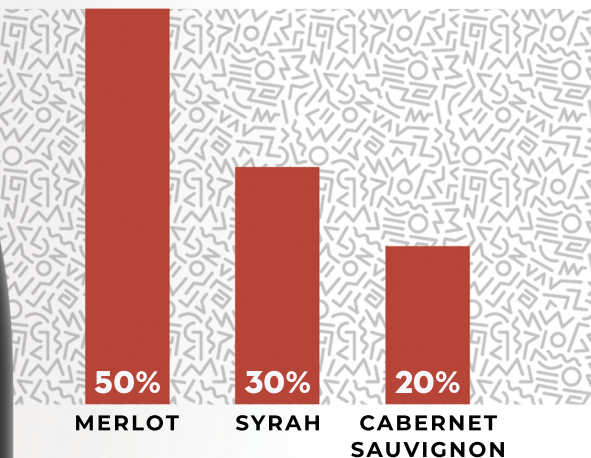

tri·ple threat: wine

/ˈtripəl/ /THret/

1: A blend of Washington's three (3) best known Bordeaux-style and Rhone-style varietals AND a wine that delivers beautiful fruit, impeccable structure, and full-bodied richness.

// "This triple threat is yummy."

VARIETAL BREAKDOWN:

TRIPLE THREAT

COLUMBIA VALLEY
RED WINE

2016

PLAYS NICE WITH:

Wild mushrooms & roasted root vegetables

Herbed lamb, shawarma or gyros

Soft cheese: triple cream brie or blue cheese

Your favorite gourmet burger & all the fixings

Good company

THIS WINE IS NOT TOO SERIOUS, BUT WE ARE SERIOUS ABOUT IT.

Founded on the principle that wine, food and friends are the ultimate blend, our winemakers diligently craft unique, approachable, food-friendly wines perfect for sharing at the table. Each year as we meticulously look for the ultimate blend, we depend on blue painters' tape and a black marker to label each creation. This simplistic measure drives our creativity, keeps us on track, and helps us develop the perfect wine for your lifestyle - thus Blue Tape Wine Company was born.