

Beth Elliott Bodywork, LLC

NC LMBT #12701

Cupping Intake

Massage cupping is a modified version of the common practice of cupping therapy, used in traditional Chinese medicine, and the results that this simple treatment produces are impressive. Through suction and negative pressure, massage cupping releases rigid soft tissue; drains excess fluids and toxins; loosens adhesions; lifts connective tissue; and brings blood flow to stagnant skin and muscles.

Name _____ Birthdate _____

Address _____

Phone _____ Email _____

Emergency Contact _____ Phone _____

Please mark "C" for current or chronic issues and "P" for past issues

Broken bone	Surgical incision	Organ failure	Insulin monitor
Cancer	Varicose veins	Pregnancy	Joint or bone replacement
Hernia	Dislocation	Hemophilia	Hearing aid
Slipped disc	Fever	Diabetes	Blood thinners
Sunburn	Kidney disease	High/low blood pressure
Ulcerated skin	Cardiopathy	Pacemaker

List any major illnesses _____

List any broken bones _____

List any surgeries _____

List any hospitalizations _____

Circle all that apply today: Fever Infection Cold/flu Inflammation Pregnancy

Signature _____ Date _____

