The IDRS Co-Co Club

The Co-Co Club, named after the wheel arrangement of the Ivatt Twins, is a fundraising structure to support the aims and objectives of the Ivatt Diesel Recreation Society, UK registered charity 1147032.

By joining the club, members are allocated a virtual ticket for each £5 payment made within a quarter, and three winning numbers drawn each quarter from the pool of virtual tickets for cash prizes. 50% of all funds received are paid back as cash prizes, and 50% of the funds are used on IDRS projects to progress the re-creation of the D16/1 locomotive.

Recreating a Pioneer Locomotive

About the Ivatt Twins

In 1947 the London Midland & Scottish Railway built the first two mainline diesel locomotives on railways in Britain. The first, 10000, was rolled out in December 1947, just before the nationalisation of British Railways. Having pioneered the use of diesel power for passenger and freight trains in Britain, the original two locomotives were scrapped in 1968.

About our Recreation

The Ivatt Diesel Recreation Society was formed to build, exhibit, and operate a new D16/1 class locomotive based on the design of the original Ivatt Twins. The Society has an original English Electric 16SVT diesel engine, a pair of bogies built to a derivative of the original LMS design, and an appropriate load-bearing frame recovered from a Class 58 locomotive, plus many ancillaries to build the new locomotive.

The Society is based at the railway station Wirksworth, Derbyshire. Visitors are welcome to look around at any time, and meet volunteers whenever the IDRS Centenary Works building is open.

About Our Funding

The society is a charity and relies on the donations of many individuals to drive forward progress in recreating the pioneer British mainline diesel electric locomotive.
