

Fraternal Order of Police (FOP)

April 2, 2021

Democrats and Democrat leadership in the House and Senate continue to push for anti-law enforcement legislation and to try and stop pro-law enforcement legislation. FOP leadership came to the State Capitol last week and spoke before the Georgia Senate Republican Caucus about issues facing law enforcement in Georgia.

Many of the bills that would negatively impact Fraternal Order of Police did not make it past Crossover Day, but a few have been added since.

Senator Randy Robertson's bill, SB 115, that would create an instructional course through the Department of Drivers Services and Department of Public Safety to educate drivers on best practices to implement when interacting with law enforcement passed the Senate and was amended in the House. The bill became controversial in the last hours of session with many Democrat State Representatives testifying against it. It did not pass in the Senate with a vote of 23-26.

Another bill, SB 183 sponsored by Senator Robertson, that would revise qualification requirements for the office of sheriff, requiring certification as a peace officer at the time of qualifying passed the Senate but did not make it to the House floor.

HB 286, which would prevent cities and counties from reducing their law enforcement budgets by more than 5% in one year or cumulatively across 10 years, passed the House with a vote of 101-69 with no republicans voting against it. The bill's sponsor, state Representative Houston Gaines, called "keeping our community safe" the most important role of law enforcement. (AJC story)

Representative Alan Powell's bill HB 434, which would require counties and municipalities to continue, under certain circumstances, contracts for health insurance for spouses or dependents of peace officers who are killed or who otherwise die while acting within the scope of their employment was heard briefly in committee last week. Georgia Municipal Association (GMA) testified that this is already enforced by Federal law. This bill did not get another hearing and therefore will not be able to move this session.

Below is a list of many bills we continue to monitor that could affect FOP along with a brief description. If anyone has questions regarding legislation below or otherwise, please contact Mo Thrash directly.

The final day for the 2021 Legislative Session (Sine Die) took place on Wednesday, March 31st. The House and Senate agreed to the FY22 budget, which includes extra money for schools, health care and road building, along with about $1 billion worth of other construction projects. Under state law, legislators have to approve a budget before the end of the session.

The daylight savings bill was passed in a different bill (SB 100), but it does require Congressional approval. Representative Cantrell and others are working with the Georgia delegation to get approval.

The Georgia General Assembly operates on a biennial legislative process, which means it is a two-year cycle. The 2021 legislative session was the first of the two-year cycle. The 2022 session will be the second of the two-year cycle. Any bill that did not pass starts over again in the 2022 session in the committee from which it came. For instance, a bill that passed the House and is in Senate Finance Committee starts during the 2022 legislative session in the Senate Finance Committee.
