

KIMBALL CEMETERY

The cemetery at the old town of Kimball on the Brazos River was relocated by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in 1950 when the dam for Lake Whitney was being built. A total of 639 graves were moved, 420 of which were unknown. The new location is three miles west on Highway 174. Since then, many more burials have been added in this new cemetery. Other smaller cemeteries were re-interred in this enclosure, such as Powell and Allen Bend, originally in Bosque County. Pogue Cemetery, originally in Hill County, is also now in this one. The Cemetery Association has an all day gathering to work in the cemetery the second Saturday of June. Copied by Rebecca Radde and Jeanne Owen in March 1985.

CULPEPPER

About four miles northwest of Walnut Springs on the Ray Hickock place, now owned by Louis Beecherl. It was never a part of Flat Top Ranch. Unfenced, on a grassy knoll, are four rock-marked graves and more recent gray granite flat stone saying CULPEPPER. Need a guide. Only one stone has lettering.

LAMBERT, Mattie           Died April 3, 1901
                           Five more lines of lettering unreadable

The other graves are this woman's parents
                           The Culpeppers
                           Mattie Lambert's Baby

(Mattie Lambert left a three-year old daughter, Lillie, who was reared by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Goains, no relation. Lillie married J. O. Blue.)
