About Alphadroid

At Alphadroid, we are automating labour processes for human advancement (ALPHA) through disruption via robotics, optimisation, innovation, and digitalisation (DROID)—transforming retail environments with AI-powered robots that enhance customer engagement, streamline operations, and create smarter, connected shopping experiences. By automating routine and repetitive tasks, we help retailers increase efficiency, reduce operational strain, and free up staff for high-value, human-centric roles.

Our vision is to build seamless service ecosystems where technology and personalised service go hand-in-hand to redefine the future of retail.
