PROFILE SUMMARY

Creative and motivated Film, TV and Digital Production graduate with a strong passion for storytelling and visual expression. I have experience developing original concepts, directing, editing and supporting post-production, with a proven ability to bring ideas from script to screen. Known for my organisational skills, clear communication and ability to stay calm under pressure, I thrive in fast-paced, collaborative environments where creativity and strong ideas lead the process.

Currently, I'm learning and expanding my skills as both a Production Assistant and Assistant Director, gaining hands-on experience across a wide range of projects including fashion shoots, music videos with major artists, and commercial campaigns for global brands like Nike. These roles have strengthened my understanding of production logistics, team coordination and the importance of clear communication on set.

I also had the opportunity to intern in Los Angeles with leading production companies that operate across London and New York. That experience gave me valuable insight into international production workflows and taught me how to adapt quickly in varied creative environments.

While I'm building a strong foundation in production, my long-term goal is to move into creative direction. I'm passionate about visual storytelling as a form of artistic expression that brings different perspectives to life. I believe the most engaging work comes from authentic voices and fresh ideas, and I'm driven to create content that reflects that through both concept and execution.

With a growing background in production, a clear creative vision and a commitment to continuous learning, I'm focused on building a career that combines structure, creativity and meaningful storytelling.
