

“While their track achievements will clearly govern both quality and quantity in their opening books, in principle these horses have all been brought back to a new starting gate.”

Chris McGrath

Context: Chris McGrath is a columnist for the Thoroughbred Daily News. An Oxford graduate, he has been named the United Kingdom's racing writer of the year three times and is author of Mr. Darley's Arabian.

Source:

1. Chris McGrath. "This Side Up: The Elusive Lesson of 'Can't Miss' Sires". Thoroughbred Daily News, December 11, 2020.

2. www.thoroughbreddailynews.com

©SWA

