FAYETTE COUNTY HOME SHOW RETURNS

Uniontown, PA – The annual Fayette County Home Show returns April 27 - 29 to the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

The indoor/outdoor event features three days of the best exhibits, seminars, demonstrations, how-to clinics and vendors Fayette County has to offer.

Guests can expect to find expert advice and inspiration on decorating, landscaping, renovation and more.

Fayette County Commissioner Angela Zimmerlink said the home show is a great place to get ideas for your next home improvement project.

“Businesses gather at one location to display their products and services, so if you don’t attend, you are missing a great opportunity,” she said. “Let us all support the Fayette County businesses. They are your neighbors, your friends and our future for continued growth.”

Commissioner Vincent Vicites said the home show is a great opportunity to promote Fayette.

“The home show has a lot of spin-off and numerous businesses can benefit,” Vicites said. “I wish this year’s event much success.”

“This is an opportunity for our local businesses to get the word out about what they do,” Commissioner Dave Lohr said. “It’s easy to understand that if they do well, the county does well.”

This year’s show takes place 3 to 8 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, with free admission and parking for all attendees.

Show highlights include visits from Froggy Radio, 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and WMBS Radio, noon to 2 p.m., Saturday; performances by Straight Up Kountry Band and Shelly and Dale, 1 - 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday; Ask the Expert Session with home remodeler Andy Amrhein, 2 p.m. Saturday; and Grow Your Best Garden Ever Session with gardening guru Doug Oster, 2 p.m. Sunday.
