

Global Mission Support Partners

Join Pastor Phil and Bonnie Winfield in Igniting Passion for Missions.

A Note From Pastor Phil

As Bonnie and I transition from our role in church leadership, we know that our hearts are far from retiring from ministry. Over the years, God has given us a deep love for people, missions, and evangelism, and that passion continues to burn brightly. We believe this next chapter of our lives is an opportunity to invest even more in encouraging missionaries, equipping churches to embrace global missions, and leading others to carry the gospel to the ends of the earth. There is a growing need for churches to reawaken their vision for sending and supporting missionaries, and we feel called to help bridge that gap. We also recognize the struggles missionaries face on the field and want to come alongside them with prayer, encouragement, and practical support. Thank you for considering partnering with us to reignite a passion for missions and help us make a lasting impact on God's kingdom. Together, we can see lives changed, and the gospel advanced around the world.

Phil and Bonnie's journey in ministry has been deeply rooted in both education and hands-on experience. Phil earned his bachelor's degree, followed by a Master of Divinity, along with additional coursework toward a Doctor of Ministry. Their ministry experience includes years of service in pastoral roles in Maryland and Iowa, during which they played a vital role in growing congregations significantly. From 1984 to 2001, they served as missionaries in Peru, focusing on disciple-making, church planting, seminary instruction, mentoring national pastors, and hosting evangelistic campaigns. From 2001 until 2024, Phil served as Senior Pastor at Grace Church in Iowa.

The Vision

Phil and Bonnie believe there is a critical need to reignite a passion for global missions in churches and to support missionaries facing unique challenges on the field. Their mission has two primary goals.

First, they seek to equip and encourage churches by fanning the flame for cross-cultural missions. They aim to assist churches in developing and enhancing their missionary programs, offering strategies to improve communication with missionaries, and encouraging active engagement with missions. They will be available to speak at mission conferences, meet with missions committees, and help churches collaborate effectively to send out and support missionaries.

They are passionate about supporting and strengthening missionaries. They understand the struggles missionaries face, including discouragement, loneliness, and uncertainty.

Phil and Bonnie plan to provide encouragement and practical assistance, helping missionaries remain effective in their calling. They will use tools like Zoom and other platforms to engage with missionaries, offer prayer, and provide guidance.

They are also committed to traveling to mission fields for personal interaction, conducting evangelism campaigns, and offering training seminars.

Additionally, they will lead short-term mission groups to aid long-term missionaries in their projects and vision.

Personal Dream

Phil and Bonnie have a heartfelt dream to see dozens of new missionaries raised up and sent out to advance the gospel and build God's kingdom.

The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest.

Pastor Shawn Barr

I would like to recommend Phil and Bonnie Winfield to you as a missionary couple to support. I have known Phil and Bonnie for 35+ years.

During my time of acquaintance with Phil, he has been a successful associate pastor, missionary to Peru, and a senior pastor. In all these positions he has maintained a focus on the furtherance of the Gospel. The churches or ministries of which he has been a part have always flourished.

I am most recently familiar with him in our partnership to plant a church on the East side of Des Moines under the umbrella of Grace Church, of which he was the Senior Pastor. He led his church in the vision for this project as well as rolling up his sleeves and doing physical work on the building.

Phil's wife, Bonnie, partners with him in all his ministry endeavors. She is a Gospel-focused person and disciples those she has won to Christ. In Phil's own word, he "has accomplished what the Lord has called him to because of his wife."

I am excited about his new endeavor of being a

In my 28 years as a pastor, I've seen the great struggles a missionary has when they hit their field. I've seen many missionaries do well and last for many years. I've also seen many become discouraged and leave the field within a few years. I think Phil in his new role could really help existing missionaries through his plan of mentoring and encouragement. Phil is one of the hardest working pastors I've ever met, and he truly has boundless energy and vision.

Our church is excited to partner with him and his wife in this new endeavor and I think you will see the eternal benefit of supporting them as well. If you have any questions, I'm available to talk about Phil and his work. Thank you for your consideration.

Pastor David Nelms

It would be impossible for me to recommend anyone more highly than Phil Winfield. I have known Phil for decades. He is the real thing.

Just check the boxes...He loves God deeply...he is a devoted husband, dad, granddad...he is faithful as the day is long...honest and honorable...trustworthy, diligent, his word is solid...Phil believes the Bible is from above-he preaches it-teaches it and he lives it. Phil would sooner take a bullet to the brain than to knowingly dishonor his Lord Jesus Christ.

And then, there's Phil the missionary! With years of experience on the 'Field', Phil is-if anything-a missiological expert. He understands cross-cultural ministry, he blesses other missionaries, he is a disciple maker, and he passionately encourages Christ followers to get devotedly serious about obeying the Great Commission! Phil knows how to 'light a fire', a 'Let's advance His Kingdom and do our part to finish the Great Commission' fire!

Finally, Phil is my friend. I trust him. Once you get to know him, you will too. And you will be better for having him in your life!
