LIVING IN WISCONSIN

QUALITY OF LIFE

Housing costs in Wisconsin are extremely affordable and nearly 15% below the national average. Wisconsin rents are $200-$500 less than comparable homes/apartments in other states. Housing costs drop significantly in the central and northern parts of the state. Milwaukee and Madison pull the average up, but housing in Green Bay and Appleton are more than 20% lower than the national average.

With access to so much fresh food — from produce and dairy to fish, cows, pigs and more — Access to high quality food at a very cheap price has never been easier than it is in the State of Wisconsin. Enjoy the beer, brats, steak and all the other tremendous options the state has to offer.

Wisconsin ranks #4 in the nation for overall health care quality, as reported by the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, a branch of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in 2018.

It all comes together in Wisconsin to form one of the best quality of life scores in the country.(us news best states)

Wisconsin's education system ranks as 13th best in the country and second best in the Midwest. One of the most telling metrics for any school system is its high school graduation rate, and Wisconsin's is better than most. Some 88.2% of public high school students in the state graduate with a diploma, compared to 84.1% of high school students nationwide.

LIVING IN WISCONSIN

COST OF LIVING

In Wisconsin, you can have more and be more. Our communities offer invaluable experiences that increase livability without sacrificing affordability. With better career opportunities, greater housing options and a lower cost of living, you can take advantage of all the Midwest has to offer without breaking your budget. Our low costs for the necessities make room for what enriches and invigorates our souls, making the life you dreamed of within reach...in Wisconsin.

COMMUTE TIMES

WORKING IN STOUGHTON

Living in Madison and working in Stoughton is very easy and is a short drive on the highway.

The surrounding areas of Madison are also a very nice place to call home.

Middleton is routinely named within the top ten places to live in the USA.

Verona is home to software giant Epic Systems and has similar qualities to Middleton.

Fitchburg is a large suburb with easy access to many amenities such as parks and golf courses.

Oregon, McFarland and Cottage Grove offer a quaint community atmosphere and are located in closer proximity to Stoughton Trailers.

LIVING IN MADISON AFFORDABLE

Live downtown in a sunny 1 bed/1 bath apartment with heated underground parking and gym access for a third the cost of apartments in San Francisco or New York. Affordable living combined with low crime and commute times make Madison one of the best cities for renters in the country.

LIVING IN MADISON HIGH EDUCATION

Attend lectures from traveling scholars, board game meetups, or competitive bar trivia nights. Home to the University of Wisconsin, the city attracts smart people from across the country and ranks among the best metros for science, technology, engineering and math grads.

LIVING IN MADISON HEALTHY

Explore over 200 miles of biking and hiking trails, a chain of five lakes, and the most green spaces per capita in the country. People here never freeze. The city's ample opportunities to get the blood flowing or take in a view make it one of the fittest and greenest cities in the US.

LIVING IN MADISON

SPRING: DANE COUNTY FARMERS MARKET

Purchase fresh fare at the largest producers-only farmer's market in the US. Nearly 300 farmers and vendors set up stands around the Capitol Square in downtown Madison Saturdays from April–November. Trust us — don't sleep on the spicy cheese bread.

LIVING IN MADISON

SPRING: WISCONSIN FILM FESTIVAL

Sit back and watch your choice of more than 150 films over eight days at the largest university-produced film festival in the US. (Cue Wilhelm scream.) The Wisconsin Film Festival showcases films from national and international cinema, including experimental films, shorts, documentaries, and restored classics.

LIVING IN MADISON

SPRING: MADISON AREA CHEF'S NETWORK WEEK

Eat and be merry — the city's food scene punches way above its weight. All that cooking talent coalesces during the annual Madison Area Chef's Network Chef Week, featuring a week of experimental collaborations, restaurant takeovers, and pop-ups

LIVING IN MADISON

SPRING: CRAZY LEGS CLASSIC

Get your heart beating at the Crazy legs Classic, a much-anticipated 8k race benefitting UW Athletics. Roughly 20,000 runners participate in the race each year, which begins downtown and ends inside Camp Randall stadium, home to the Wisconsin Badgers football team.

LIVING IN MADISON SPRING: STATE STREET

Stroll the homegrown goods shops, independent bookstores, and lively restaurants and bars on State Street, Madison's cultural heart. The pedestrian zone is lively all year round, but especially in spring, when the city's famous food carts set up on either end.

LIVING IN MADISON

SUMMER: MEMORIAL UNION TERRACE

Enjoy summer nights on the Memorial Union Terrace: You don't have to be a UW alum to appreciate this ubiquitous gathering place. Round up a group of friends on a Friday or Saturday night to relax by the water and catch free concerts, movies, or simple peace of mind.

LIVING IN MADISON SUMMER: IRONMAN

Turn out to volunteer or cheer along the Ironman Wisconsin race route, which the city has hosted for the past 16 years. Throngs of locals gather to see the starting mass plunge into Lake Monona and the racers who run across the finish line 10 hours later.

LIVING IN MADISON

SUMMER: ISTHMUS PADDLE AND PORTAGE

Dress up and grit your teeth for the Paddle and Portage race, which takes advantage of Madison's unique geographic characteristic of being straddled by two lakes. Costume-clad racers paddle across one lake, portage across the Capitol Square, and paddle across the second lake to the finish line.

LIVING IN MADISON

SUMMER: ART FAIR ON THE SQUARE

Peruse 500 artist booths at the annual Art Fair on the Square, which draws almost 200,000 visitors to the Capitol Square and is one of the largest art fairs in the country. Even if you're not buying, looking is free, and the variety of paintings, prints, photographs, sculpture, jewelry, and handmade clothing is worth it.

LIVING IN MADISON SUMMER: HIKING

Adventure on foot — the area is teeming with trails for the day packer or overnighter. Try out segments of the 1,200-mile Ice Age Trail, which like The Appalachian Trail is a National Scenic Trail, or knock on the Devil's Doorway formation at Devil's Lake State Park.

LIVING IN MADISON

SUMMER: TASTE OF MADISON

Eighty participating restaurants, 27 beverage stands, three entertainment stages, and one very busy Capitol Square make Taste of Madison one of the city's flagship festivals. The event raises tens of thousands of dollars for local non-profit and charitable organizations, so enjoy all the tastes, sips, and sights guilt free.

LIVING IN MADISON FALL: BADGER FOOTBALL

Live up to our Big 10 college football town reputation by sporting red on Saturdays and watching the Wisconsin Badgers vanquish the opponent. Catch the action live from Camp Randall Stadium or join the throngs of fans tailgating in parking lots, backyards, and alleyways around the stadium

CAMP RANDALL

LIVING IN MADISON

FALL: BIKE THE BARNS

Raise money for community supported agriculture by barn hopping on bike during the annual Bike the Barns ride. At each barn stop a local chef awaits with gourmet grub. Madison is one of five US cities deemed a Platinum Bicycle Friendly Community, but its rural rustic roads deserve recognition too.

LIVING IN MADISON

FALL: MADISON NIGHT MARKET

Catch the last Madison Night Market of the year. Against a backdrop of live music, street artists, and the night sky, vendors line State Street to showcase handmade products, local art, prepackaged foods, and fresh produce.

LIVING IN MADISON

FALL: WISCONSIN BOOK FESTIVAL

Hear well-known and should-be-known authors give readings and lead discussions and workshops at the annual Wisconsin Book Festival. The public library system holds hundreds of other book events throughout the year to cater to our reader and bookstore culture.

LIVING IN MADISON

FALL: BROADWAY IN MADISON

Madison's Overture Center for the Arts hosts sensational Broadway shows, and the season begins in the fall. Past seasons have included heavyweight hits like Wicked, Les Misérables, and Book of Mormon and Hamilton.

LIVING IN MADISON FALL: LIVE ON KING STREET

Take your love of live music to the streets at Live on King Street, a free outdoor concert series that takes place downtown on King Street. The stage has hosted national-touring acts like Shakey Graves, The Head and the Heart, and Ziggy Marley

LIVING IN MADISON

WINTER: ISTHMUS BEER & CHEESE FESTIVAL

Mingle with more than 100 brewers and cheesemakers while sampling new tapplings, old classics, and creative pairings at the Isthmus Beer and Cheese Festival

LIVING IN MADISON

WINTER: FROZEN ASSETS FESTIVAL

Fundraise on ice at the Frozen Assets Festival. This free, three-day festival is held on top of frozen Lake Mendota and inside The Edgewater Hotel downtown. The festival includes a fat bike race and 5K run/walk on the ice, as well as a Winter Carnival ball (indoors).

LIVING IN MADISON

WINTER: WINTER SPORTS

Snowshoe or cross-country ski Madison's hiking trails in winter at night during candlelight events. Or go big — the Madison area sports three ski hills within 45 minutes of downtown, and slopes for weekend stays are only a few hours away.

LIVING IN MADISON

WINTER: RESTAURANT WEEK

Warm the soul with a great meal at an even better price during Winter Restaurant Week. Restaurants across the city create prix-fixe menus that let you sample some of Madison's most iconic dishes that are as easy on your wallet as they're dangerous on your waistline.

An aerial photograph of Madison, Wisconsin, taken at sunset. The city's skyline is visible on the left, with various buildings and green spaces. The city is situated on the edge of Lake Monona, which fills the right half of the frame. The water is a deep orange-red color, reflecting the vibrant sunset sky. Numerous sailboats are anchored in the lake. The sky is filled with dramatic, colorful clouds in shades of orange, red, and pink. The overall mood is peaceful and scenic.

THANK YOU!
