Consent for the Use of Dilating Drops

Dilation eye drops are used to enlarge the pupils, allowing our physicians to examine the inside of your eye. Dilation usually causes blurred vision. The length of time that your vision will be blurred varies from person to person. It is not possible for Boston Eye Care Consultants to predict how much or how long your vision will be affected.

Driving may be difficult or impossible after dilation. You may find it easier to arrange transportation for the appointment rather than drive yourself. We strongly suggest that you wear sunglasses to reduce your increased sensitivity to light while driving. I understand that these eye drops are necessary to examine my eyes and make a diagnosis.

I authorize the Robert A. Lytle, MD, and/or his ophthalmic assistants to administer dilating eye drops during the course of my treatment.
