5. Corporate Health Partners

This unique wellness company focuses on three main components: assessment, culture building, and getting results. CHP does not take a “one-size-fits-all” approach.

Participation is guided, progress is tracked, and ROI is measured—for both the health of the employee and your company. They go beyond the virtual programs favored by other wellness providers, offering committed personal coaching at your worksite. To learn more click here.

6. Extracon Science LLC

Extracon's programs work with your employee's doctor, and the smartphone in the employee's pocket, to deliver better prevention and real lifestyle change. The programs are designed to reward employees who work with their doctor to improve biometrics and close prevention gaps. Extracon focuses on same-year improvements, instead of waiting for the next year's screening. Their programs also include app-based tracking of steps and weight, with rewards for employees who make validated changes in lifestyle. Click here to visit their website.

7. Limeade

Inspires change by addressing health, well-being, and performance all in one platform. Drive organizational change by addressing core business goals and individual employee needs.
