

Rachael Miller is a speaker, trainer, author, and certified life coach. She leads Ready 2 Win, a transformative life coaching initiative, and The Growing Place, a women's empowerment group that cultivates faith, purpose, and passion through Union Church in Charlotte, NC.

She holds an MS in Human Services Counseling with a concentration in Life Coaching from Liberty University and a BA in Communications with a focus in Broadcast Journalism from Oral Roberts University.

With over 20 years of experience, she is a Certified Maxwell Leadership Trainer and Coach with additional certifications from Light University. She partners with organizations to foster intentional work-life balance and total life fulfillment.

Rachael's dynamic seminars, workshops, and retreats elevate personal enrichment. Her energizing, interactive presentations offer practical strategies for everyday life. Her impact spans both public and private sectors, inspiring personal development and transformation that enhance lives and careers.

Rachael inspires team members as a leader of a subsidiary of American Airlines, through presentations and publications. She writes and edits a weekly aviation publication featuring informational and motivational content for front-line Inflight professionals.

She is the former producer and television host of the Trinity Broadcasting Network public affairs television show "Joy in Our Town," where she featured prominent Atlanta leaders for nearly two decades. She has also served as a CBS News Reporter, appeared on magazine covers, and hosted radio and TV programs with global reach.

She founded Refining Women Worldwide and the Ready 2 Win retreats, and authored "50 Pearls of Wisdom," the "21 Day Challenge" e-book, and the "Excellence in Living" workbooks, each designed to purposefully empower women.

Rachael and her husband, Randall, are parents to three adult children and are preparing to celebrate 35 years of marriage. They reside in both the Atlanta and Charlotte areas.
