About Fun to Talk Speech Pathology

Fun to Talk Speech Pathology assesses and treats preschool and school-aged children, up to the age of 18 years old, who are at risk of or are already demonstrating developmental delays or specific communication difficulties. At Fun to Talk, we can provide services in our clinic or during visits to home, kinder or school settings.

Fun to Talk Speech Pathology provides services to assess and treat the following:

- Speech
- Language
- Stuttering
- Pragmatics/Social Skills

Fun to Talk Speech Pathology is committed to delivering evidence-based practice, and a family centred approach that focuses on strengths. We work collaboratively with other professionals involved with families in order to achieve positive outcomes for clients and families.

We treat all clients and families with dignity and respect their values and contribution to their communities. Fun to Talk Speech Pathology encourages and supports families to participate in their community to the fullest extent.

Our commitment includes supporting and empowering families from an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Island background, those who are culturally and linguistically diverse, and those who identify at GLBTIQ. We actively promote the safety of children and have a commitment to child safety by:

- Having a zero tolerance for child abuse.
- Having systems in place to protect children from abuse and treating all complaints seriously.
- Actively listening and working to empower children.
- Promoting and respecting the diversity and culture of our clients and families.
