

Seeds are staging a coup and are ready to break down the doors to the vault.

They're all pleading to get out of the bag and into the big world. Each one ready to soak up sun and jump into some red dirt. And I'm going to help them.

Quick update on what's up. I've moved a lot in my life. Texas -> Oklahoma -> Florida -> Texas -> California -> Oklahoma. It's been a crazy last 10 years with moves from Texas to California for about 8 years, then back to Texas. Now back to Oklahoma.

A friend is starting a grow company here in Oklahoma on his land in the next couple weeks. I'm gifting my 2000 or so bean stash to him to grow out and plan to start working there full-time within the next couple months. So over the next year they should all be grown out.

I've had some of these seeds for over 7 years. It's way too big of a list and I haven't been able to grow for a few years because of being in non-legal Texas. Feel good that I get to let these genes out into the wild now. Ready for some fun.

Started a few already and will be sorting out plants and making clones to gift soon. Will be gifting out a bunch of my NL seed stock to local growers I meet. Really excited about the future here. Interested to see taste the local red dirt terroir with these beans compared to Cali.

I used a lot of fox farm of at first in Sonoma county with my indoor and outdoor grows but that got too expensive pretty quickly. Then found the local dump/recycle center in Sonoma and started using their organic soil mix that was much cheaper and could by it by the truckload. It was good stuff and after some top dressings of my goat tea, everything looked fantastic and tasted awesome. We made a bunch of water hash using some Matt Rize and Subcool methods (Hats off to both those guys as I learned a bunch from them. I use a lot of grow tricks I learned from Subcool on weednerd back when he moved to Sonoma). Some of the Bodhi stuff like Goji and Love Triangle tasted like pure fruit when made into water hash. I'm a believer.

Soil now is a mix of local organic stuff I've found and amended with alfalfa compost, peat moss, ewc, and mushroom compost. Will be experimenting with insect frass and amino sprays soon.

Will use this thread for all my grows and share pics from the seed jailbreak.

Any thoughts on which beans to break out next?

Would love to hear any thoughts. I have a list right now on priority, but sometimes I smoke, start thinking, and change the list up.

Vintage Pakistani seeds. Got these and a few others around 2013 in Santa Cruz at Kind Peoples. They had a nice selection and I scooped some up. Life hit me and I started a new business unexpectedly there and had to move to the city and give up growing for awhile. Back now and popping all these goodies I still have.

nierika seed trust

Vintage Pakistani #1 - fav plant so far. super vigorous and looking good. just transplanted to 1gal cloth pot. mars led in a 4'x4' grow tent.

Sad but true, all these dream beavers decided to stay in their shells and never come out. Was getting some bad germ rates with the older seeds. Switched up a few methods and now I'm getting them better. Going to try some gibberellic acid (GA) on Petrolia Headstash in a week or so after some more tests.

Kandahar Afghani - low germ rate on these too but still blessed that I have some in the garden. Will make f2s of all the heirloom/landrace/limited stuff to hand out. + some cuts of keepers Gorilla Biscuit IX's. Something about these really called out at me. New stuff I'll try out. Would like to run these next to Bodhi's Nibiru to see the sensi star cut crosses next to each other.

Just popped some Sinai from The Real Seed Co. This stuff is going to be biblical.

Popped some Petrolia Headstash from Nierika too. The seeds are the same pale beige color that the Herijuana seeds are. One pheno I got from the original Herijuana seeds (#5) was a super branchy wide with big buds on the wide branches. Curious to see how these look compared the Herijuana.

I also soaked some Pineapple OG f2s (Pineapple Thai x Tahoe OG Kush). Hoping to re-create some of the magic I had from the last grows. 707 Seedbank said they used a Pineapple Thai mom (I'm guessing it's the same cut that was going around Sonoma County - Norcal Seed Co. has a Pineapple Thai on their page and I think they might be the one supplying the cut) and a Jack the Ripper male in their cross they call Pineapple Thai.

Really hope I can grow out their seeds and my Pineapple OG at the same time. The pineapple smell came through nice on the 2 crosses I chucked, plus a little OG smell in the Pineapple OG. The Pineapple Lights (Pineapple OG x Northern Light5) had no OG smell but more chunky buds than the Pineapple OG version. The NL5 really seems to make the plants more squat, with one big, long cola and much smaller side branching.

Next on my list to pop are the Deep Line Alchemy #5 beans from Bodhi. The Iraqi stuff looks pretty awesome and if both Stray and Bodhi have selected a plant, it must be good.

I'm trading some beans with a few people and have offered to gift out some clones locally. The Vietnam Black x Thai x Herijuana cross seems to have the most interest from others right now, which I find a little surprising. I might move these up the list a few spots and pop them before the DLA5s.

Popped some beans that last few nights:

Nibiru, Too Buku ((Vietnam Black x Thai) x Herijuana) and a freebie from Brothers Grimm Cinderella XX.

Too Buku and Cinderella XX have sprouted already. Nibiru and Too Buku are both about 5-6 years old so I hope to get a few.

Unfortunately, my old seed stock is 5-8 years old and a lot haven't sprouted :/ I moved a few times during those years and kept them in a wood box in cool/dark places. For all new seeds, I guess I'll need to start freezing them.

Seeds not germinating:

Nibiru - zero have popped after 12 days.

Love Triangle x Goji OG - zero popped after 5 days

Goji OG f2s - zero popped after 5 days

Purple Haze x Thai - zero popped after 5 days

I'm going to start focusing on older seeds that are not available anymore so I can hopefully get them to pop. I've tried GA on a few seeds with no noticeable difference in germination rates. Will give them all up to 21 days to pop, so still holding out some hope. I've noticed a correlation with higher germ rates during full moons, new moons, and when I change temps adding a space heater nearby and turning it on/off every couple days or so. Will report if any of these germ.

Next up in a few days:

Strange Love

Pineapple Thai BX

White Fire #3 x Snow Lotus

ShLUbY said:

what has been your method for starting seeds?

Hey Shluby and thanks for stopping by. I'm dropping them in a cup of distilled water overnight and then into 36mm peat pellets. This method used to work at close to 100% germ rate and still does for the newer seed, but the seeds that are having trouble are 5-7 years old. I've tried some gibberellic acid mixed into the water on the older ones and haven't noticed a huge difference.

My storage method might be a big part of the problem, as the seeds have been living in an old wooden wine box through a few moves over the last 5 years.

Any ideas?

Surprise in the garden today!

I was just about to FIM a Sinai plant I transplanted a few days ago and noticed a cluster at the top:

Then I noticed it had balls! It's an auto-flower male with a couple big balls. I found one more in the group (#2 & #4).

Not really interested in any auto flower seeds, so I'm just going to cull them. I wasn't expecting this, but they are a landrace strain and I've read some landraces act weird indoor under leds 18/6.

Nothing on The Real Seed Company website about this strain being auto. Can't find a thread on them in the seed reviews either, so I might start one in the next day or so if someone else hasn't already.

--- Anyone here grown Sinai or any other TRSC gear? ---

Happy Cold Moon to everyone. In the spirit, I'm soaking some Pineapple Lights. PL is a pollen chuck of mine consisting of (Pineapple Thai clone x Tahoe OG Kush CC) x ('89 noof cut x BCSC NL#5).

I grew one of these a few years ago outside and she increased the bud size and the structure of the Pineapple OG. Really hoping to get that pineapple taste and easy going high again in my garden. Over the last few days I've tried a few different soaking solutions.

- 1 - just distilled water
- 2 - distilled water + gibberellic acid
- 3 - distilled water + humic acid + fulvic acid
- 4 - distilled water + humic acid + fulvic acid + gibberellic acid

Some of the seeds are 5-6 years old. Tossed in some Black Triangle (recently purchased), Pineapple Lights (5yrs old) , New Blue Diesel f2s (5 years old), and some Pineapple Thai BX (6 years old).

Pumped up for the Black Triangle. Love Triangle was some of the my favorite plants and smoke. All the reports on BT sound great, except for a few low yield reports. LT had some good yield will certainly f2 the next pack I put in. Really need some of the pineapple lights or pineapple thai to pop so I don't lose the pineapple flavor smoke.

Will update the results of the seed soak solutions after about 2 weeks.

Oh, and the Real Seed Company (RSC) got back with me on the Sinai seeds. They said it's certainly possible that many of the Sinai seeds will auto-flower. I mentioned that they don't say that on the Seedsman site or even on their website. They noticed it was not mentioned anywhere on their site and added it. Really glad they were able to update the info that quickly but at the same time a little disappointed in the purchase and the time/tent space they took up. I have no interest in autos. I'll f2 them since they're flowering and will mess with them again in a few years or so for fun, but they won't be outcrossed.

I have a couple other packs of RSC gear. Nada Devi and Parvati and inquired about them auto-flowering too. They said Parvati is "unlikely to show this trait" and it's "not impossible in Nada Devi because it's an early plant, harvested in August and September. But not yet seen it reported if so."

Sinai = 7/8 have auto-flower traits after 4 weeks growth under 18/6.
Parvati = unlikely to auto-flower
Nanda Devi = could auto-flower

ND is going to the back of the line now. Might give Parvati a chance in couple few months.

Good news is 12 black triangles and 9 pineapple lights have popped so far.

Bad news is Pineapple Thai BX and New Blue Diesel f2s still haven't popped. Will give them 14-20 days before I add the peat pellets to the compost pile.

Got a little baked this morning and in a moment of super high clarity, I started soaking all my Da Purps Lights and all the Ms. Universe beans I have. Da Purps Lights seeds are labeled April 2013, so over 5 years old. The Ms. Universe seeds are about 6 years old I believe. Here goes something!

History of Da Purps: I got this cut from Llama Dan in Sonoma County back in 2012 I believe. Not sure where Dan got the plant from, but this description seems to describe my experience: https://en.seedfinder.eu/strain-info/Da_Purps/THC_Seeds/. Da Purps is the frostiest plant I've ever grown. The original cut yielded very poorly, so I pollinated her with the Bodhi Northern Lights males. I've grown out only one of these before and the yield was increased by 3-4x. The frost, taste, and smell all remained from the original cut. Fingers crossed on the remaining seeds.

Original cut grown outdoor.

Original cut grown indoor 5 weeks after 1 month cure.

Just started soaking some Love Triangle! One of my favorite smokes of all time so I'm looking forward to growing out this pack again.

old photos - #11 at 18 days flower.

#3 at 7 weeks flower. not a great shot and doesn't show off her color/frost.

#3 cola - you can see the colors and frost better here from the same bud. I believe this was 11 weeks.

Next up for the bean popping party...

Blue Herijuana - New Blue Diesel f2 (navy blue specimen) x Herijuana.
New Berry - the new DJ Short offering.

Hood Mt. Goji OG - Mt. Hood Huckleberry x Goji OG. Should be a berry explosion. Fingers crossed.

Check out the Blue Heri beans (New Blue Diesel x Herijuana). So dark. Everything from the New Blue Diesel f2s were super dark like this.

Just started soaking some New Berry from DJ Short/New World Genetics. Nice effort on the packaging but it's a little too much. I guess they had to make it look worth the $245.

Ramping things up now that it's getting closer to outdoor time. Already got some Love Triangle's popping up.

Just started soaking some Hood Mt. Goji OG (Mt. Hood Huckleberry x Goji OG). FYI, I'm giving my pollen chucks names to make it easier on me to keep track of the pollen chucks vs the originals. No intention of selling these seeds. We're growing them all out.

Would love to see a cross of the Mt. Hood buds with the size and taste of the Gojis. Here's a few pics of the relatives:

Mt. Hood Huckleberry #4 (not the mom of the pollen chuck, but she was very similar. mom had the biggest cola. they were all super frosty like this)

Goji OG #9 (selected father #5 was the twin to this female)

Most of the Love Triangles have already sprouted.

Next up is Big Sur Holy Weed, Too Buku v2 (Vietnam Black x Thai x Herijuana), and '79 Xmas Bud. Plan to start soaking these in the next 5 days.

Really looking forward to the BSHW and the 79X. Both heirlooms look really cool. I might have to chuck some pollen at each one to see what I get. Will try to make extra seeds from both lines. Too Buku is an interesting pollen chuck. Only grew one plant of the mash up before and it was really cool looking with a grey color buds with a slight blue tinge. Smell and taste was more peppery than sandalwood. The first version of the Too Buku showed a lot of mutants and I culled all but one. The v2 I've grown before so I'm hoping to get a few winners here. Lost all my pics of the previous grow.

Cool looking mutant. It's the only survivor from the Too Buku v1 seeds. Too many mutants with this version. I think the super odd stringy female Vietnam Black x Thai was too opposite the Herijuana male or maybe just a bad combo. Not sure why.

I dropped the Big Sur Holy Weed into the glass two days ago. One is about to break ground already.

Sometimes, seeds talk to me when I'm really high. This time a savage group of Hotspot, Too Buku v2, and Herijuana seeds talked me into dropping them in water. It's like a spirit jumped into my head and said "you want to drop these 3 strains in water now..."

Weird, I know, but true.

Hopspot is a cross made from an instagram friend, Bamboodan of Cannabis Partisan Genetics #cpghotspot. Be sure to check out his stuff on the gram. Lot's of great photos, phenos, and cool crosses as well. Hotspot is Prayer Tower x Alien Wifi Kush.

Next up today is Gooey 84%. Tomorrow is '79 Xmas Bud. Then Dread Bread. Photos coming.
Got a few BSHW that popped went to soil yesterday. A few Hotspot will go later today.

Dunked the 84% Pure Gooey in some h2o last night.

Tonight I'll drop some OG Jack - Tahoe OG Kush x Sannies Jack. The Tahoe mom was fire and the Jacks were all monster plants. Smoke from Jacks was a nice clear headed sativa high. Will be cool to see how this plant compares with Stray's Happy Place (Tahoe OG x Ronnie Barrett). Looks like Stray's cut is from a Cali Connect pack, like my mother here is.

Next up: Monkey Balls, Happy Place, and King's Banner XIII.

Some quick stats on the germ rates:

Black Triangle - 85%

OG Jack - 33%

Purp5 - 33%

Ms. Universe - 50%

Love Triangle - 94%

4NL - 77%

Blue Heri - 0%

New Berry - 91%

Hood Mt. Goji - 0%

Big Sur Holy Weed - 77%

Hotspot - 100%

Too Buku v2 - 8%

Herijuana v1 - 0%

84% Pure Gooney - 100%

I've been waiting until about 14 days, then moving the trays of sowed seeds away from the heat pad to see if any sprout there. It seems switching up the climate a little can cause the sowed seeds to jump up.

As you can see the germ rates are all over the board! New stuff is close enough to 100% and the old stuff is 0%-77%. I'll get a deep freezer sometime soon to start storing my seeds. Need to read up on best practice for this.

My favorite part of the plant lifecycle is germinating new seed. The anticipation of waiting for one to pop it's head out over the dirt jiffy pellet really gets me. I check several times a day and then get rewarded when I see a little mini plant looking up at me.

This morning I was greeted by some Monkey Balls sprouts looking up at me. Good day!

In the last few days, I started up some Monkey Balls from Hazeman, Zamaldelica from Ace, and some Happy Place from StrayFox.

Next up is Kings Banner XIII, Purple Wookie (Bodhi), Too Buku, and then Deep Line Alchemy #6.

In the last few days, we've started up King's Banner XIII, Cheeseberry Haze, Deep Line Alchemy #6, and Downward Spiral (Vortex x Herijuana).

Louis XIII is some of the best flower I've gotten at a shop in a long time. Picked it up at a couple different spots in SF over the last year or two and it's been fantastic. Great womp to the head at first where you say "damn I'm f-ed up" and then you feel a rush bliss for awhile that then turns therapeutic and relaxing. Great fun rollercoaster high. Tastes a little more skunky than Tahoe. Stronger than Tahoe.

I subbed in Cheeseberry Haze over Purple Wookie bc the seeds are so much older. Downward Spiral should be kinda cool if I can get them to sprout. Seeds were harvested 7 years ago! It's my attempt to get some funky smell from the vortex expanded on by the herijuana looks and power.

Obviously my stinky batch of seed dunks. Hoping to find some funk in these. There has GOT to be some skunky stinky phenos in these hills one would think.

Next up: Jack Light5 (Sannies Jack f6 x (89 Noof cut x NL#5), NL5xHaze f6s, NL#6 x Appalachia, and Fouroura Borealis for the Northern Lights batch.

The Northern Light5 #5 and #10 I have in the small greenhouse for my personal meds is progressing nicely. They are almost identical. All about 18" tall with tight spacing and nodes starting to swell up the one stalk slowly. I only have 3 going, but two of them have a slight dirty something smell to them. Like a musky old shirt that was sweaty and left in the hot car overnight smell. Hope this evolves to a stinkier smell.

*pic was from a few weeks ago.

#61

In the middle of the NL batch. In the last week had to slow up the seed starts as we make a bunch of clones for the local shops.

We're not going to hoard any genetics and will offer every "keeper" or elite clone we get (except those that are requested to stay in house of course) to the public. We'll even offer males upon request for those who want to make their own beans. So all my seed stock will be available in clone form eventually.

Started some Jack Light5 the other day. This is my version of a NL crossed with a sativa. The Sannies Jack grew huge colas and had a super clear head high. The NL5 influence will probably make the high a little more hazey I'm guessing. Would like a mix of the structures. NL5 stuff grows short (16-26" tall) with one thick totem pole of a bud, where as the Jack grows with 6+ big side branches with coke bottle size buds reaching for the sky.

After that I started some NL5xHaze beans from Swami and last night I started some Trichrome Technologies NL#6 x Appalachia from Bodhi.

NC#5 X HAZE
F6

trichome technologies nl#6
x appalachia
11 bodhi seed

Next up: Fouroura Borealis (Four Way x NL#1), z7 x Northern Light5, and 1 of these 3:

Nigerian Sunshine, Cherry Queen, or Durghancitral.

Thanks @lukio I put in a dm asking to be moved. I asked about starting an Oklahoma sticky for the medical patients board about 2 months ago and was told they would do it soon. It could take awhile 😊 It's okay I'm in no rush. Just watching my plants grow lol.

My seed addiction got the best of me the other day and I ordered the last pack of 88g13hp from Hazeman and a pack of Granny Skunk from Dominion. Duke Diamond seems like a pretty chill dude and his interview on The Dude Grows pushed me over the edge.

I stayed on track with my bean pop schedule. Started some Fouroura Borealis a few days ago and then some Zlight5. Zlight5 is a pollen chuck of the Z7 beens from CBD Crew I got crossed with Bodhi's Northern Light5 (or Bodhi Lights). Hope to find a nice 3:2 thc:cbd pheno. Next up I started an old pack of Ace of Spades from Sub. Also started up:

- Hood Mt. Goji OG (Mt. Hood Huckleberry x Goji OG) - really want some of these to sprout. praying!
- Panama from Cannabiogen
- Bright Moments from Gage Green.
- 1 bag seed from an 1/8 of Mango Sherbert (super fire crystal covered bud. smoked 2 seeds in the bud :/ and saved the last bugger).

Got this Sinai at 5 weeks out for a little photo shoot. She's seeded with about 5 Sinai males and about 10% got dusted with the 2 badass looking Petrolia Headstash males that bolted. I'm guessing she needs another 3-4 weeks. Will be handing these seeds out to anyone who wants them. Should be some cbd phenos in there and some cool f1s too.

Since last post we've started up: Chocolate Rain, Durganchitral, Pineapple Thai (707 Seeds), Caramel Cough, Nigerian Sunshine, Herijuana, and some Sannie's Jack f2's I made a few years back from Sannie's f7 version. Big lemony haze type plants. Great yielders and all were pretty uniform with not much variation in the group.

Here's some Sinai at 6 weeks under 11/13 led:

No more seed popping for at least a week or two to clear some space.

Below is Sinai at 7 weeks. Someone needs to start up a RSC thread under seed and strain reviews! If I don't see one in the next few weeks I will 😊

Had to try and pop my remaining Herijuana beans. If I don't get any I might not grow the strain again. Leave it up to fate.

Sinai #7 at 8wks. Not much amber yet, but I'm getting impatient. On when to chop because I want to give the seeds as much time as possible.

Just harvested some Gorilla Biscuit and some Vintage Pakistan at 9.5 weeks:

Gorilla Biscuit #1

Harvested a few different females (all grown in 3" square clone pots to test out) the last few days. Nikah, Gorilla Biscuit, Cosmic Serpent, Vintage Pakistani 1, and Kandahar Afghan. Will add some bud pics at some point. Here's a few.

Vintage Pakistani 1 #2 has the most red hair I can remember seeing. Some of these caught some pollen from males that were being tested in the next tent over so you'll see some seeds here and there. (posted this in the Bodhi thread yesterday)

Vintage Pakistan #2

Here's the same bud in the jar, doing it's best SpiderMan impersonation

no camera tricks this girl has some grab

More bud shots and some first impressions on the phenos.

Vintage Pakistani 1 #1 - not as red hairy as #2 and a different smell. More of a slight floral to it (#2 losing the sweetness of the watermelon rind smell). Not enough experience to describe the high yet, but they both seem more of a clear headed sativa like high.

Cosmic Serpent #1 - high is about as strong as #8 with more of a sweet lively berry/Hawaiian punch smell to it than #8.

Nikah #3 - this is the most frosty of everything so far and has a nice soaring and disorienting high (the frost while it was growing isn't showing up that well in the bud on this pic). Smells of a little sour lemon like where the #7 has a more lemon square type pastry smell.

Here's one of some Vintage Pakistani 1 #2 in the jar. Real heady soaring sativa high. Smell after curing has lost most of the sweet where it almost smells like a cucumber now.

Next up I'm going to veg out a few clones to get them bigger for a seed run with one chosen Kandahar Afghan male to make f2s and an AfPak using the Vintage Pakistan #1 & #2 girls.

Plan to make a few thousand of these seeds to run through and give out. Should be some nice stuff to find in there.

Few more in flower:

Cinderella XX#2 @7wks - She's the ugly duckling that I'm not keeping, but she's turning into a nice looking flower.

Here's a pic of another plant I'm not keeping, but really seems cool - Hotspot #4 (Prayer Tower x WiFi Alien Kush) by BambooDan @4 weeks - interesting sweet bubble gum like smells with something else there I can't recognize atm. Pistils have that characteristic WiFi look to them.

Here's a quick pic of '89 Noof x BCSC NL#5 f2 (labeled 4NL9 from plant #4) at 7.5 weeks. The color is a little off from the LED in the background...the background is blue. But it shows some of the fade pretty good. Chem like smell to this one.

Not a keeper plant but just for some headstash running with the testers.

Hotspot #5 (Prayer Tower x WiFi Alien Kush) from BambooDan has a really unique sweet smell like a banana fused to a mandarin orange is the best I can describe it. Buds are swelling up nicely on a wide branched squatty plant.

I put every plant through hell to check stability and behavior. After cloning each plant, a day or two later I put one clone in a small 2x4 tent under led 11/13 to sex them/flower them out. Sometimes the humidity spikes up to over 90% and heat up to 100 degrees, then it's back to 70 degrees and 40% humidity with some light leaks and timing issues that pop up where I leave the door open too long or open it early. Over watering and under watering etc. Not ideal situations. Here's a few pics:
