CH Projects Scores Big With Historic Hotel Revamp and Exciting New Venture

We’re raising a toast to The Lafayette Hotel, which just snagged not one but two Orchid Awards from the San Diego Architectural Foundation. This stylish spot scored top honors in Historic Preservation and Architectural Lighting, proving that old-school cool is always in fashion.

After a $31 million makeover, The Lafayette reopened last summer, and boy, did CH Projects knock it out of the park. They’ve managed to keep the hotel’s vintage Hollywood charm while giving it a modern twist.

With seven spots to grab a bite or a drink, 139 rooms, and that iconic pool, it’s like stepping into a glamorous time machine.

What makes The Lafayette special? It’s all about the details:

Blending Old and New

The design team went all out to mix original elements with fresh ideas, creating a timeless vibe that’s hard to pin down to any specific era.

A Piece of History

Fun fact: The Lafayette is the only hotel built in the U.S. during World War II.

CH Projects: The Orchid Collectors

These CH Projects Orchid Awards aren’t their first rodeo. They’ve got quite the collection, with past wins for spots like Part Time Lover, Raised by Wolves, Morning Glory, and Seneca. It’s clear these folks know a thing or two about creating spaces that wow.
