“American Road Warrior” Lyrics

[Verse 1]

With the push of a button, my rig comes alive
The cadence of a diesel, all primed to drive
On a cool frosty night, or a hot summer morn
I am a long hauler, my task is born
The traffic is busy, the nights are long
I serve America, to keep us strong
A sense of duty and pride, I take my post
Being an American Trucker, is what I love most

[Chorus]

American Road Warrior, the backbone of this land
Eighteen wheels & gears, steered by my hand
I'm an American trucker, proud and true
With love for my country, red, white and blue

[Verse 2]

Raw power & metal, as the rubber meets the road
80 tons of cargo, hauling load after load
Some may think it's lonely, but I drive to do my part
Holding the love for my family, with every beat of my heart
Whether ice covered roads, or a heated byway
Thank God, I'm an American Trucker, this I pray

[Chorus]

American Road Warrior, the backbone of this land
Eighteen wheels & gears, steered by my hand
I'm an American trucker, proud and true
With love for my country, red, white and blue

[Bridge] (Example: For Regenerated Songs)

This song is dedicated, to a trucker named Fred
He drove for Roadway Express, after he & Norma wed
From the hills of Virginia, to the Piedmont of Caroline
3 million miles on the road, so little time

Fred's now driving, shifting gears, & carrying freight
For the Heavenly Express, through the Pearly Gates

[Verse 3]

Men and women driving chariots, of smoke and steel
Tractor trailers, and semis, shifting hill after hill
Always at home, on the highways of this land
Across purple mountain majesties, and the desert sand
From the vistas and horizons, as far as the eye can see
I'm an American Trucker, my fate, my destiny

[Chorus]

American Road Warrior, the backbone of this land
Eighteen wheels & gears, steered by my hand
I'm an American trucker, proud and true
With love for my country, red, white and blue

American Road Warrior, the backbone of this land
Eighteen wheels & gears, steered by my hand
I'm an American trucker, proud and true
With love for my country, red, white and blue

[Outro]

God Bless our truckers, our stars of the road
Serving America with grit, load after load
Commanding their rigs, every night and day
American Road Warriors ... Heroes of the USA
