

Nicole

Storyteller & Stalking Awareness Advocate

About Me

Nicole is a survivor of stalking by a former partner she met online. Her story has been featured on Columbus, Ohio, public radio, and the news. She has also shared her story on the true-crime podcast Strictly Stalking. Nicole has also been invited to community events to raise awareness.

Nicole is an advocate for women. She has written about her experiences with love bombing and relationship red flags. She has also journaled since age ten and has shared many relatable life lessons at The Journal Bee.

With the Director of Domestic Violence and Stalking Unit for Franklin County as a resource, Nicole wrote the article "Stand Up to Stalking," which is as much instructional as it is a call to action.

"For the last few years, I have been encouraging women to trust their instincts and never excuse a red flag; however, I also know that first - we must have the courage to do so. We must have the confidence and security to trust from within."

1 in 3 women & 1 in 6 men will be stalked in their lifetime

Collaborations

- Ohio Domestic Violence Network- Speakers Bureau
- Domestic Violence Project, Inc.
- Clark State College
- Women Empowered - National Board
- ARO Abuse Refuge Org.

76% of intimate partner murder victims were stalked prior to their death