ANNUAL REPORT 2020-21

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY

Dear Friends and Well-Wishers, It is my duty and pleasure to share Prakriti Annual Report 2020-2021 so that I may inform you of the success and dilemmas faced by our organization during this most inexplicable year. Covid 19 has the entire world in its grips and affects everyone on this planet. Prakriti attempted to implement its programs to the best of its ability under the current scenario. As Prakriti completes 31 years of service and support towards empowering women and facilitating them to live with dignity, the past reporting year due to adverse situations disturbed our efforts as partners in development. Maharashtra remains one of the worst affected states in India, with deadly coronavirus infections and death. Nagpur, in particular, was hard hit by the epidemic. As the State continued to see increasing spikes in Covid cases, Nagpur district and city were the worst affected regions. Current official reports state that 6,826 new corona virus-positive cases and 65 fatalities have taken the tally to 2,91,043 and 5,903 deaths. Corona is still a part of our daily rigors, and the scare is real.

The National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA) wanted to involve NGOs and other charitable organizations, and social trusts at the local level to handle the unprecedented COVID-19 crisis. An NGO coordination center was set up at the local levels with logistics provided by the State government. NGOs are expected to offer their services in containment zones and other areas where curfew is imposed with special passes. Prakriti undertook some measures during the Covid relief work. Prakriti worked for the past three decades in Central India through its several cross-cutting policies and programs to spread awareness about women's rights. We have assisted urban and rural women in learning through institutional support about real-world education for health, livelihoods, and banking, with women's distinct roles in local self-governance. Since 1990, the organization has reinforced countless women affiliated with our programs and enabled them to grow and develop to their full potential—our projects aimed at promoting social and economic empowerment in an environment free from violence and discrimination. One emerging aspect that we would like to explore in rural and urban areas, where we work is educating women concerning the potent danger to them and their family's health by Corona infection. In today's world rife with the risks of Covid 19, women in the informal economy are subject to misinformation and fear-mongering when it comes to getting vaccinated against COVID-19. Even though the Government freely dispenses vaccines, there is still much convincing to be done. Prakriti believes women have a significant role to play here. Challenging as this might be, we are ready to explore women's attitudes, perceptions, and problems in getting vaccinated. I hope the contents of the Annual Report give a fair idea of how we went about doing our work this past year. I pray all our colleagues and well-wishers stay safe and healthy. The world is strained today in its present impasse, and we all need to do the essentials for our safety. With my very best wishes,

Sincerely, Shobha Sakharwade

VISION

MISSION

MISSION

To identify positive possibilities in women associates and provide them with suitable leadership inputs with the view to involve them in activities related to social regeneration of society. To undertake relevant research and study projects highlighting gender inequities prevalent in society and to bring distinction to the organization through the documentation and dissemination activities related to the same. To distinguish the organization at the local, regional and national level as a supportive women's organization that enhances women's empowerment through capacity building initiatives for bringing about social transformation. To establish and forge strong networking amongst the various women's organizations working in the country and thereby extending support and encouragement so as to create an environment to foster and embark on development initiatives with innovative and newer ideologies. Also to act as an initiator to begin a new era for their self-development, pride and self respect

VISION

To create family centered society characterized by rapid, sustainable and equitable development with women being equal contributors to this process.

ACTIVITIES BY PRAKRITI

A TREE PLANTATION PROGRAMME

A SKILL TRAINING PROGRAMME

THE INTERNATIONAL WOMAN'S DAY

A COUNSELLING CENTRE

A Counselling Centre at Prakriti is run under Nagpur District Centre. Rural women subject to domestic abuse seek assistance at this centre, along with counseling and legal support.

Counselling may help those who are struggling in the world. Counselors may help them deal with personal issues such as loss of a job or a loved one, relationship problems, etc. This can be a very stressful time for anyone. So here in Prakriti counselling centre, our professionals help the person get back on their feet and feel empowered and stronger than ever.

Domestic Violence Cases during lockdown periods increased in numbers. After entire families remained confined indoors, women had to bear the brunt, subject to domestic abuse. Women were encouraged to use Government helpline numbers and on-call counselling facilities in the district. Much advice was sought over phones when women could not step out.

PROGRAMME FOR SUCIDE AFFECTED FARMER'S FAMILY

Prakriti is working on Rehabilitation of Distressed Farmers' Families since 2008. The organization is implementing a full-fledged programme for suicide affected families in Akola and Amravati districts. The project is for the benefit of women-headed families and their children, where the farmer-father has committed suicide. Such families are supported in areas of health, livelihood, education of children, farming, and procuring government schemes. We also focus on their mental trauma to facilitate them in coping with the aftermath of the life-changing event.

Prakriti aims to assist these women to gain control over livelihood options so become that thev financially independent. They also need to be assisted to gain control over property rights to their dwelling and family agriculture land. Prakriti is advocating on these counts at relevant forums. Further, they are given information and helped to access government schemes. Prakriti ensures that they take full advantage of schemes. Advocacy for this purpose in an intrinsic part of the project. In Akola district Prakriti works with over 100 suicide affected families. Around 25 children are being provided monetary assistance to continue with their education.

Between 2001 and 2018, a total of 6,154 farmers from Marathwada died by suicide, while the number for Vidarbha was 17,547. While trying to understand the root cause of farmers suicides, the Prakriti played a vital role in the life of affected families.

INTERVENTIONS BY PRAKRITI

- Funding Support For Children Of Suicide-Affected Families To Continue Education
- Awareness programmes on New Agricultural Laws
- Meeting With Women Farmers On Issues Of National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme
- Leadership trainings for women farmers

EFFECTS OF LOCKDOWN ON SUICIDE AFFECTED FAMILIES

Effects Of Lockdown On Suicide Affected Families: Prakriti is witness to countless cases of hunger, poverty and critical health conditions of people during the Covid Lockdown period. Covid has not distinguished between the rich and poor but most certainly it has been the poor who have been afflicted. The epidemic has made their impoverished situation even worse off than before. To draw attention towards the plight of these downtrodden families Prakriti published an article in the vernacular media.

PANCHAYAT SAKHI PROGRAMME

aA total of 40 Panchayat Sakhis (Friends of Panchayat) presently work under Prakriti's Panchayat Sakhi Programme. 20 Panchayat Sakhis are from Nagpur and 20 from Balaghat district, respectively. The main intent of the programme is to provide support to increase participation of women members in local self- governance units called gram panchayats.

Outcome of the Programme

- Enhanced Role of Women in Panchayat Raj Institution
- Improved Leadership qualities in women PRI members
- Increased no.of women in voters list
- Clarity that women voters are also members of Gram Sabha
- Awareness that voters are eligible for elections of local selfgovernance bodies.
- More proficient and functionally effective Gram Sabha
  Committee

FEELING THE GAPS

Village Ghogli Gram Panchayat lies close-by in location with Nagpur District. However, with limited public transportation available, the villagers face difficulties in terms for dependable conveyance required for employment purposes. Also, earlier this village was largely agricultural with extensive farming occurring all over. But in time with escalating land prices, many farmers in a bid to make quick money began selling off their land to outsiders, mostly urban dwellers. This certainly had an impact on the women daily-wager's livelihoods, who were left high and dry.

Ghogli is a very small village. What was noticed was that the Mahatma Gandhi Rojgar Yojana offering employment opportunities was not undertaking any efforts for due implementation of the scheme. No work was happening for this scheme, the reason being that nobody from the village was keen to work as the Rojgar Sevak or Employment Official. Neither were the Sarpanch or any other gram Panchayat members making efforts or showing interest in appointing for the open placement.

In this situation it was Prakriti organization that entreated the Chogli village Panchayat Sakhi to find a suitable candidate. In time an educated village woman named Varsha Ghodmare, was identified and inspired to make an application for the post. Her application was sent to the Ghogli Gram Panchayat. However, the Sarpanch pointed out that in order to appoint the candidate it was mandatory to hold the Gram Sabha meeting, but this could not be possible in the current situation due to Covid epidemic.

It was then that Prakriti field worker along with the Panchayat Sakhi had to repeatedly meet higher up officials at the Tehsil level and also mediate with villagers and gram Sabha members as well as with the Sarpanch to facilitate the appointment. Finally, their efforts bore fruit and in February 2021, for the first time a woman Rojgar Sevak was appointed for the Ghogli Gram Panchayat.

It is very heartening to note that what the government functionaries and gram panchayat could not do for so many years, was finally undertaken successfully by Prakriti trained Panchayat Sakhi.

ECONOMIC EMPOWERMENT OF WOMEN

The project on Economic Empowerment of Rural Women and Younger Womenfolk is underway in 30 villages of Nagpur and Chandrapur Districts of Vidarbha, since the year 2019. It primarily focuses on single women who are separated, divorced, widowed or are facing violence and abuse.

BEING THE CHANGE

Lalita Veladi, a 30 years old widow of village Junona, district Chandrapur lives in one room of her marital house with her two children. Seven years back, her husband passed away. After her husband's death, the family members tried every effort to drive Lalita out of the house. The continued backing of the SHG members offered moral support to Lalita to continue living in her in-law's house. When her father-in-law saw that she was receiving strong support from the village women, he started living with his daughter in her home and would work on his agriculture fields from there. Lalita's father-in-law has 12 acres of agricultural land in his name, and this is an inherited landholding that comes down from father to son. Including Lalita, four heirs are claiming their inheritance. Her in-laws are pressuring her to sign on some papers, perhaps to relinguish her share, but the SHG women members have told Lalita not to sign any documents without consulting them. The matter that has come to light now is that her in-laws have made a deal to sell off 9 acres of the family land. The moment Lalita came to know about this, she made a police complaint and later there were court proceedings to resolve the issue.

Babita Meshram, a 36 years old widow, lives a single woman's life. When she was married, she had set up a home and her husband in her parental village named Nimbala of Chandrapur district. Fourteen years back, when her son was just five years old, her husband expired. When she went to her in-law's place to ask for her husband's share, they told her that the property share would be given to her son when he grew up and came of age. Nothing has been given until now. The Prakriti field worker provided Lalita and her son with money to obtain her pension, ration, and dwelling place through government schemes. Today Babita lives independently in her own house. With the help of the Prakriti field worker, Babita has written an application demanding her name to be added to the 7/12 documentation in ancestral property. After persistent efforts and difficulties and only after the passing away of her father-in-law she could finally get her name added to the said property.

STUDY ON RURAL, SINGLE, DEPRIVED WOMEN FOR THEIR RIGHTS TO PROPERTY

These rural, deprived women usually face many difficulties obtaining their property rights from their in-laws or marital homes. In-laws do not want to give widowed women their share of the property; women are not given any family money or property information. They don't have any documents/paperwork of properties and do not have any knowledge and information of legalities in such matters. Among others, the crucial problems are - less land-holding and a more significant number of heirs.

WOMEN REGIONAL NETWORK

Prakriti in partnership with Women's Regional Network (WRN) was engaged in online activities in the given time period. Due to the covid and the lockdown situation, the months of April and May were spent in rethinking and reorganizing the work to keep pace with the existing situation. From June to December, 2020, WRN India program was part of several regional webinars as a part of its outreach program. The outreach program seeks to visibilise interlinked issues of gender-justice, women's empowerment and peace to counter violence against women.

STUDY ON WOMEN FARMERS

Corona lockdowns had the most significant adverse impact on laborers, farmers, and low-income self-employed rural populations in most developing countries. A study was undertaken in a few developing countries on farmers and women farmers to understand the effects of lockdowns on rural economies. Along with India, other countries like Algeria and Morocco were in this study's purview. The Society for Promoting Participative Ecosystem Management and Prakriti surveyed marginal women farmers of Akola and Nagpur district in India. Through telephonic interviews and inperson meetings, an assessment was made on the main cotton crop cultivating women farmers vis-à-vis the impact of lockdown. Women involved in the cultivation and those working as daily wage earners were also interviewed.

Findings of the Study

- The harvested cotton and pulses could not be sold in the market due to the sudden lockdown, resulting in a lack of ready money in hand.
- There was no transportation for taking the produce to the market
- Women who could manage to sell cotton and pulses did not get the due prices and remained lost.
- Women could not return previous loans taken from Krishi Kendra
- Corona had women farmers staying primarily at home for fear of infection. Since they did not go to the fields for a very long time, they lost their crops and produce.
- With increased living cost and Lack of funds they are forced to take loans from SHGs and microfinance companies.
- Some women farmers, who had irrigation facilities, turned to grow vegetables on their lands. Still, since Corona had taken an upward surge, they could not sell as markets remained shut. Consequently, they lost their produce that ended up rotting.

DETERMINATION

Having understood the real-world situation and problems faced by women farmers cultivating cotton crops, the Study will be helpful in the next season. It will be easy to know precisely how they may be assisted in training, procuring seeds, and best practices for optimal cultivation. In forthcoming programs, all this would be pre-determined to prepare and better organize women farmers.
