HEALTH CANADA MODIFIES CARBOXYPEPTIDASE D AND ADDS LEUCYL AMINOPEPTIDASE TO A WIDE VARIETY OF FOODS

Informing you of important documents that affect your labelling strategies

Health Canada (HC) has modified the List of Permitted Food Enzymes by allowing for leucyl aminopeptidase (A. oryzae AT1088) in foods like, but not limited to: bread, flour, whole wheat flour, colby cheese, dairy-based flavouring preparations, hydrolyzed vegetable proteins, meat tenderizing preparations, plant-based products that resemble dairy products, pre-cooked (instant) breakfast cereal, spray-dried cheese powder, unstandardized bakery products, and yeast extract.

Furthermore, HC has revised carboxypeptidase D (A. oryzae AT1727) by making a few minor housekeeping corrections which includes the addition of 'plant-based products that resemble fish products; Plant-based products that resemble meat (as defined in section B.21.004 of the Food and Drug Regulations) products' that was unintentionally excluded from column 3 for this item.

For more information and to learn how to submit comments, questions and scientific information, click on the html link to "Modification to the List of Permitted Food Enzymes to Authorize the use of Leucyl Aminopeptidase from a New Source - Notice of modification - Lists of permitted food additives, Reference number: M-FAA-24-13" on HC's website.

Coming into force on: October 30, 2024.

WEBINAR TESTIMONIALS

"Course content is extremely relevant to clarify and explain the ins and outs of nutrition panel composition and use; to meet the requirements of the new regulations coming into force.
\he presenter and his group are second to none when it comes to clear presentation of requirements as well as real life examples so everyone understands.

After the webinar they provide relevant links and printed resource materials which will help build a full library of regulatory information to use to create your panels"

"Gary is truly an expert in Canadian food regulations. There is not a question that he cannot find a solution to.

I would recommend his course to anyone looking to strengthen their understanding of the Canadian regulatory landscape."
