Celebrating disability representation through books, conversations, and creativity!

Disability Book Week inspires readers around the world to build more inclusive bookshelves by choosing stories that feature characters with disabilities.

While the celebration takes place the last full week in April, our volunteer team works year-round to provide disability-inclusive literature and resources.

How to participate:

- Read a book together as a class
- Talk about the story and the character
- Complete a coloring or activity page
- Practice kindness, empathy, and inclusion
- Invite an author to do a reading

Book Choices

With recommendations for all ages, choose books from different categories throughout the week, such as:

- Physical Disability
- Neurodiversity
- Chronic illness
- Communication Differences
- Inclusive friendships
