We do our best at the FireLynx Cattery to provide a healthy kitten that will be able to grow large, always loving, and live a long life with their furrever families. We do routine checks up as well as have tested all the parents for diseases and our males have had hip x-rays. The cats we have at our cattery have come from 5-6 generations of healthy breeding lines and their parents have all had heart scans, blood work tested, and hip x-rays. As I say all the above, I want to remind our new owners that sometimes we cannot prevent hereditary problems and we do recommend giving joint supplements, try to avoid them jumping from really high places, always giving them vitamins to promote healthy skin and hair, as well as brushing teeth due to these being common Maine Coon health problems.
