Three women went to Mexico one night, had too much to drink, and woke up the next morning in jail. They were told they would be executed, but none of them could remember what they had done wrong.

The first woman, who had red hair, was strapped into the electric chair. When asked if she had any last words, she said, "I went to Grace University, and I believe that God will protect the innocent." They pulled the switch, but nothing happened.

Everyone around dropped to their knees, begged for her forgiveness, and let her go.

Next, the second woman, a brunette, was put in the chair. She said, "I went to the Creighton School of Law, and I believe that justice will protect the innocent." They pulled the switch again, and once more, nothing happened.

Again, the people fell to their knees, asked for her forgiveness, and let her go too.

Finally, the last woman, a blonde, was brought in and strapped into the chair. She said, "I just graduated from the University of Alabama in Huntsville with a degree in Electrical Engineering, and I can tell you right now, this thing isn't going to work unless you plug it in."

A guy is walking down the beach and finds a old lamp in the sand. He rubs the sand off of it and a genie pops out and says "I am the Genie of the lamp, and I grant you 1 wish."

Shocked, the guy says he wants a private bridge all the way to Hawaii. The Genie tells him it's very hard with the hundreds and hundreds of pilings and miles of asphalt, and could he possibly think of another wish.

The man thinks for a minute and says "I really want to understand women".

The Genie looks at the man and says "So how many lanes you want on that bridge?"

I hired a plumber to help me restore an old farmhouse, and after he had just finished a rough first day on the job: a flat tire made him lose an hour of work, his electric drill quit and his ancient one ton truck refused to start.

While I drove him home, he sat in stony silence. On arriving, he invited me in to meet his family.

As we walked toward the front door, he paused briefly at a small tree, touching the tips of the branches with both hands.

When opening the door, he underwent an amazing transformation. His face was wreathed in smiles and he hugged his two small children and gave his wife a kiss.

Afterward he walked me to the car. We passed the tree and my curiosity got the better of me.

I asked him about what I had seen him do earlier. "Oh, that's my trouble tree," he replied "I know I can't help having troubles on the job, but one thing's for sure, those troubles don't belong in the house with my wife and the children. So I just hang them up on the tree every night when I come home and ask God to take care of them.

"Then in the morning I pick them up again. Funny thing is," he smiled, "when I come out in the morning to pick 'em up, there aren't nearly as many as I remember hanging up the night before."

Life may not be the party we hoped for, but while we are here we might as well dance. We all need a Tree!

KELLY'S STORY

I'm just a tiny little girl. I haven't been out and about very long. I am only 1 year old. It has been interesting after living inside my Mama for nine months and when I came out all the light and the wind and the cold has been a total change.

I hate it when mom takes me to the store and doesn't cover me all the way up, I'm still tiny. I get cold really easy. I have my own little chair so I can't get up and play. Mom and dad don't pay much attention to me because they're interested in what's on their cellphone. I don't have a phone yet, but one day I will get one too.

I am 3 years old now and things have not really changed. I went to the park yesterday and was watching the other kids. I saw their mommas pick them up and hug them and they were laughing. I watched as mommas and daddies were playing with their kids but I don't really know how to play.

My momma is sitting beside me and I don't know what to do. She is talking to someone on her phone so I have to be quiet. I wish my momma would play with me and pick me up like the other mommas are doing instead of playing games on her phone. I feel like crying but I don't know how to make mom play with me like the other kids.

I had a birthday party and now I am 5 years old. Some kids brought me gifts and it was fun. Afterwards we had to go to town. Mom said I'm a big girl now so she went into the store. She said I will be right back, but it is so hot in the car. I am crying, but I don't know where momma is. People are coming by and looking in the car and they see me. I hope someone will open a door for me. I tried to open it but I couldn't. "Momma, where are you?" I cried.

She finally came back and opened the door and windows but the other people are mad at her.

She said, "Shut up, you're okay!" Why won't my mommy be nice to me like the other kid's moms? I wish I had another mom!

Mommy and daddy and me went to a restaurant as a treat the other day since I am a big girl. I wanted to know about the stuff in the restaurant and talk about the people around us, but mommy and daddy didn't see me, they just saw the screens on their phones. I am so sad.

How many new parents are really showing love and attention for the child that you made? Children are dependent on their momma and daddy to make them feel loved and feel wanted and feel safe.

I don't want to brag, but I do speak pig Latin; I mean, I'm not fluent, but I'm sure if I ever went there, I could get by.

I had a tree I wanted removed, because it was too close to the house. I called a tree guy and he came out and did a nice job cutting down the tree. He asked me what I thought and I said it was nice but what about the stump?

He informed me that he was just a tree guy who cut down trees, if I wanted the stump removed, I would need to call a stump guy. I found a highly recommended "stump" guy and he came and got the stump out. He says there you go. I ask him about the hole. He says I'm a stump guy, I just remove stumps, I don't fill in the hole.

Long story short, he told me I would need to call a landscaper. I get ahold of a landscaper and I tell him I'm fixing to leave town on a trip and I don't care what he does, Just fix the hole and make it look nice.

I get back today and find out he planted a friggin tree.

I don't know who needs to see this, but your laundry needs to be put into the dryer. You're welcome.

A man who is new to the area goes into a pub. He gets talking to the owner who, after a few beers, opens up about the area's amazing bacon tree, which produces bacon, free for anyone to pick and cook

The newcomer is intrigued and returns to the pub regularly in order to wheedle out from the owner where this bacon tree may be found, because he likes a good fry up for his breakfast.

After becoming a regular of the establishment over a period of around six months, the man asks the owner where this fabled bacon tree can be found. He hems and haws for a bit and then tells the man where it can be found.

It being summer, the man determines to visit the tree that very night to see if it is just a hoax and, if not, to secure himself some prime bacon.

The next day, he arrives in the pub all dishevelled, with his clothes ripped and scratches on his face. He approaches the owner and says, "You arse, that wasn't a bacon tree, it was a ham bush."

A guy decides to take off work early from work and go drinking. He stays in the bar until it closes at 2 a.m. By then, he is extremely drunk. When he gets back to his house, he doesn't want to wake anyone up, so he takes off his shoes and starts tiptoeing up the stairs. Halfway up the stairs, he loses his balance, falls over backwards, and lands flat on his rear end. That wouldn't have been so bad, except that he had a couple of empty pint bottles in his back pockets and they broke, carving up his rear end terribly. But he was so drunk he didn't know he was hurt. A few minutes later, as he was undressing, he saw some blood. He checked himself out in the mirror and, sure enough, his rear end is cut up something terrible. He repaired the damage as best he could under the circumstances and went to bed. The next morning, his head was hurting and his rear was hurting, and he was lying under the covers trying to think up a good story, when his wife came into the bedroom. "Well, you really tied one on last night," she said. "Where'd you go?"

"I worked late," he said, "and I stopped off for a couple of beers."

"A couple of beers? That's a laugh!" she replied. "You were plastered last night, and you know it! Where'd you go?"

"What makes you so sure I got drunk last night, anyway?"

"Well," she replied, "my first big clue was when I got up this morning and found a bunch of band-aids stuck to the mirror."

A sailor was heading back to his boat after shore leave. He had a few hours to kill, so he stopped at a seedy waterfront bar. He struck up a conversation with an old pirate sitting at the bar who had a peg leg, a hook for a hand, and an eye patch.

The sailor said, "Wow old-timer, it looks like you've really been through it. How did you get all those injuries?"

The pirate said, "Well, we plundered a town, and on our way back to our ship in our long boat, I got tossed overboard by a wave and a shark got my leg. A year later, we got into a fierce battle with another pirate ship, and I lost my hand in a sword fight and ended up with a hook. The eye patch came because I was standing on deck one day, looked up and a sea gull pooped in my eye."

The sailor said, "Wait a minute, you lost your eye because a sea gull pooped in it?"

The pirate replied, "Well, it was my first day with the hook."

A man suffered a serious heart attack while shopping in a store. The store clerk called 911 when she saw him collapse. The paramedics rushed him to the nearest hospital where he had an emergency open heart bypass surgery.

He awakened from the surgery to find himself in the care of nuns at a Catholic Hospital. A nun was seated next to his bed, holding a clipboard with several forms and a pen. She asked him how he was going to pay for his treatment. "Do you have health insurance?" she asked.

He replied in a raspy voice, "No health insurance."

The nun asked, "Do you have any money in the bank?"

He replied, "No money in the bank."

"Do you have a relative who could help you with the payments?" asked the irritated nun.

He said, "I only have a spinster sister and she's a nun."

The nun again became agitated and announced loudly, "Nuns are not spinsters. Nuns are married to God!"

The patient then replied, "Perfect! Send the bill to my brother-in-law!"

An old man died and is walking toward the entrance to heaven. A sign directs "Women to the right, Men to the left". He joins the line to the left.

A later sign directs "Men who were henpecked by their wives to the right. Others to the left".

To the right there is a long line of men waiting. He goes left, walking past all that down an empty aisle all the way to a tiny desk at the end. There the clerk looks at him then looks in the big book on the desk, then looks at the old man again, then studies the big book for a bit, and finally looks up, saying "Why are you, of all men, standing in this line!?"

"My wife told me to."

There's a knock at Dave's door and a policeman outside says "There's a flood coming and you must immediately leave and go to higher ground".

Dave shrugs and says "I have faith in the lord and he will save me."

The water starts to rise and Dave moves upstairs where a boat with some of his neighbors comes by and they shout "Get on board Dave, the water's still rising."

Dave again shrugs and says "I have faith in the lord and he will save me."

The water keeps rising and Dave climbs up into the roof and a helicopter swoops down and drops a ladder and the operator shouts "Climb up quickly, we're here to rescue you!"

Dave yet again shrugs and says "I have faith in the lord and he will save me."

The water keeps rising and Dave drowns and is met at the pearly gates by God and

Dave is outraged and says, "What the heck lord, I had faith!"

God says, "Look pal, I sent a cop, a boat and a helicopter.... What more could I do?"

Two guys were fishing at night on the Ohio River on different sides of the riverbank. Guy number one was catching a whole bunch of fish for his family, but guy number two hadn't caught any and was frustrated and called out to guy number one, "How come you've been catching all them there fish and I ain't caught a single one?"

Guy number one replied, "I don't know. Why don't ya come on over here?"

"I don't know, I don't see a bridge, and their ain't no boat, and I don't swim too well"

Guy number one picks up his flashlight, turns it on, and replies, "Why don't you walk across this here beam of light?"

Guy number two was outraged and replied "Do you think I am stupid? When I get half way, you'll turn it off!!!"

A Cajun man wants a job, but the boss won't hire him until he passes a little maths test. "Here is your first question," the boss said. "Without using numbers, represent the number nine."

"Without numbers?" the man says, "Dats easy," and proceeds to draw three trees.

"What's this?" the boss asks.

"Tree and tree, plus tree makes 9" says the man.

"Fair enough," says the boss. "Here's your second question. Use the same rules, but this time the number is 99."

The man stares into space for a while, then picks up the picture that he has just drawn and makes a smudge on each tree. "Ere ye go."

The boss scratches his head and says, "How on earth do you get that to represent 99?"

"Each of them trees is dirty now. So, it's dirty tree, and dirty tree, plus dirty tree. Dat makes 99."

The boss is getting worried that he's going to actually have to hire the guy, so he says, "All right, last question. Same rules again, but represent the number 100."

The man stares into space some more, then he picks up the picture again and makes a little mark at the base of each tree and says, "Ere ye go. One hundred."

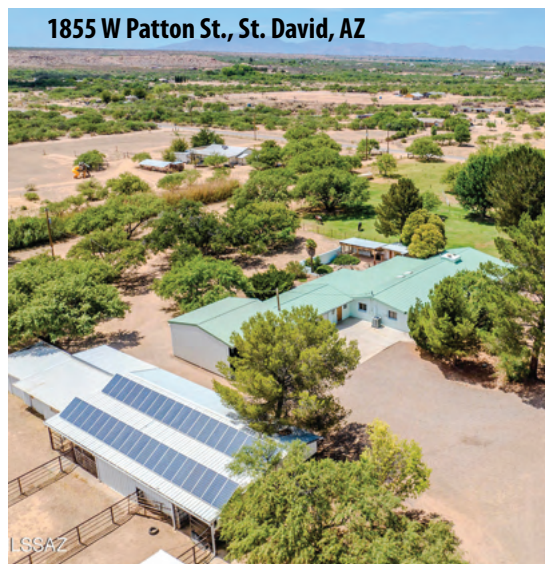

The boss looks at the attempt. "You must be nuts if you think that represents a hundred!"

The man leans forward and points to the marks at the base of each tree and whispers, "A little dog came along and pooped by each tree. So now you got dirty tree and a turd, dirty tree and a turd, and dirty tree and a turd, which makes ONE HUNDRED!"

This man is the new supervisor!!!

A couple went to the county fair. They ate all the food and rode all the rides. When it came time to leave the woman asked her husband if there was anything else he wanted to do. "I would like to take a ride in that airplane, but it costs $20."

She replied, "$20 is $20." He nodded sagely and they went home. Next year they went back to the fair, and the year after that. Every year his longing to ride the airplane grew, and every year her answer was the same. "$20 is $20."

After many years the now old man was talking to the pilot about how he had always longed to ride in his airplane, but his wife wouldn't let him waste their money. "I have an idea" the pilot said. "Let's make a bet. You ride in the plane and if you don't make a sound the whole time, I'll give you your money back."

The man's wife reluctantly agreed, and the couple climbed into the back seat. The pilot fired up his engine and took off. Determined to make his money, the pilot did a series of barrel rolls, corkscrews, loop the loops, even climbed straight up until the engine stalled then dove straight down until he could restart it. Not a peep came from his passengers, so he levelled off and landed. He turned around and was shocked to see the old man sitting alone.

"Where's your wife?" the pilot exclaimed.

"She fell out at the second barrel roll," the man replied

"Why didn't you say something? We could have landed and gone to look for her!"

"Well, I wanted to, but "$20 is $20."

A STRONG WOMAN DOES NOT NEED A MAN TO COMPLETE HER
 She's already learned how to stand on her own. So if she chooses to love you, it's not because she needs you, it's because she wants you in her life. That's why you should never take her for granted because a strong woman will never beg to be chosen. She will simply walk away the moment she feels she's no longer valued.
