SIX GOOD THINGS ABOUT GETTING OLD

1. Your investment in health insurance is finally paying off.
2. If you've never smoked, you can start now, it won't have time to kill you.
3. The stuff you buy today won't wear out.
4. People no longer view you as a hypochondriac.
5. In a hostage situation, you are likely to be released.
6. Your brain cells are finally down to a manageable size.

A little girl walked to and from school daily. Though the weather that morning was questionable and clouds were forming, she made her daily trek to school. As the afternoon progressed, the winds whipped up, along with lightening.

The mother of the little girl felt concerned that her daughter would be frightened as she walked home from school. She also feared the electrical storm might harm her child. Full of concern, the mother got into her car and quickly drove along the route to her child's school. As she did she saw her little girl walking along.

At each flash of lightning the child would stop, look up and smile. More lighting followed quickly and with each, the little girl would look at the streak of light and smile.

When the mother drew up beside the child, she lowered the window and called, "What are you doing?"

The child answered, "I am trying to look pretty because God keeps taking my picture."

While my friend and I waited to have his house key duplicated, we watched the clerk make a key for the customer before us. When the amount came up on the register, my friend leaned toward me. "Whew," he whispered a bit too loud, "the last time I had a key made, it was only thirty-five cents."

With a mischievous smile, the clerk turned to my friend and said, "And which lock on the castle was giving you trouble back then?"

FOR SALE

DRUMS - I'm selling 6 of the finest professional grade 8 lug, never-been-played Canopus snare drums. All are new out of the box condition. Pricing is far below market retail. My price ranges are anywhere from $800 to $1,500.00, which is still considerably below the current market. If you make a reasonable offer, I might give it consideration. Each comes with a top grade soft carrying case. I also have a brand new open-box never-been played Gretsch USA Custom Series drum set in White Marine Pearl wrap. Drum tom sizes are: 8x10, 8x12, 9x13, 14x14 floor tom with legs, 16x16 floor tom with legs, 20 inch bass drum, and a matching 8 lug snare drum. No cymbals or stands except a single tom holder and mount. All drums come with soft carrying covers. Retail for my Gretsch kit retails a little over 7K. My price is $3,500. Call Bob: 505-610-2878 in Sierra Vista.

From the Mouths of Kids...

After attending a wedding at the church, little Tommy was very confused. On the ride home, his mother asked him what he thought of the beautiful ceremony. Tommy crossed his arms and said, "It was okay, but I don't understand why the lady in the white dress was crying. Didn't she want to go?"

One particular five-year-old confidently recited his favorite verse: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only forgotten son."

Interview with the Dog

The Silence is Broken

We asked a dog to pull aside the shroud of secrecy and be interviewed. He asked that his name not be used, but for the good of all dogs he agreed to share these ten insights with humans:

- 1

My life is likely to last 10 to 15 years. Any separation from you will be painful to me. Remember that before you buy me.
- 2

Give me some time to understand what you want from me.
- 3

Place your trust in me. It's crucial for my well-being.
- 4

Don't be angry with me for long, and don't isolate me as punishment. You have your work, your entertainment and your friends. I only have you.
- 5

Talk to me sometimes. Even if I don't understand your words, I understand your voice.
- 6

Be aware that however you treat me, I will not be able to forget it.
- 7

Remember before you hit me that I have powerful teeth, but I choose not to use them.
- 8

Before you scold me for being uncooperative, obstinate or lazy, ask yourself if something might be wrong with me. Perhaps I'm not getting the right food, or I've been out in the sun too long, or my heart is getting older and weaker.
- 9

Take care of me when I get old. You'll be old one day.
- 10

Go with me on difficult journeys. Never say "I can't watch, it's too painful." Everything is easier when you are with me.
- 11

Please remember I get hot in my fuzzy coat and really don't like walking in the sun and heat. I love an evening walk though.
- And through it all, remember that I love you.

Three wealthy brothers wanted to get the best birthday gift for their elderly mother.

The first brother said, I'm going to buy mom a big house.

The second brother said, I'm going to buy mom an expensive sports car.

The third brother said, you guys have got no imagination. I spent the last year paying a small fortune to have a parrot trained in memorizing Bible verses because mom loves the Bible.

Mom's birthday comes and goes. The three brothers all get a thank you email from their mom.

To my first son, The big house is nice, but I can hardly get up the stairs, and I have to keep the whole place clean myself.

To my second son, the car is nice, but my eyes are so bad that I can't drive anymore, so it just sits in the driveway.

To my third son, you've given me the best gift of all. It was just what I wanted. Thank you, son. That chicken was delicious.

Freedom is Sweet!

Since I am on the road a lot all around Cochise County, I have seen an extraordinary number of animals running free, both cats and dogs. People seem to be getting complacent about making sure their animals stay where they put them. I've even heard people say well, he got out so I'll just make him stay out there so he can learn his lesson. This will not work! In most cases they will get eaten by something or die of lack of water.

It is time homeowners wake up. Their animals are not as stupid as you think they are. Did you know that when you put your gate on, it is not really secure. The weight of a large dog jumping on that gate repeatedly sometimes will knock it open. And then good luck finding them!

Then there are the diggers that decide they'll just go under! That works for a smaller dog, and if ignored long enough, it'll work for a large dog as well. It's common sense to walk the fence line every couple days to see if there's any fresh holes. You can fill the holes in, but that is monotonous, and what that does is just give them easy dirt to dig in next time. The best thing to do is to pick up some of their fecal and throw in that hole and then close it up. They do not want to dig where their poo poo is.

And then we have the jumpers. Here it's just common sense! If your fence is not high enough, make it higher. Yes, it is something you will have to spend money on. But it can be done by you and your friends, you do not have to call a fence company. The thing of it is, how much do you love your animal? Because once they get out and they're free, all kinds of really terrible things can happen to them.

How about, they run into a human that will run over them just because they are there and they have an evil spirit? Or what about if they get hit by the car and are hurt but not killed? Are they gonna lay and bleed to death, are they going to be in pain, are they just gonna lay there until the hot sun dries them up and they die? These are things to think about if you love your pet, you don't want them to suffer.

Or how about the coyote that's running with a couple of his family and says yeah, let's just take him home and have lunch? They will kill him, tear him apart and take him back to their place for today and tomorrow.

And in the case of cats, feral cats live outside, they're pretty smart on staying safe. Domestic cats however are not. They do not have a clue how to survive once mom or dad is gone.

Last but not least, are the animals who just opportunity seekers. These are the sneaky ones that wait for that door to open more than 8 inches and Wham! they're gone. It pays to be attentive every minute when opening and closing your doors. That being said, good luck with keeping your animals where they're supposed to be and not out running wild and getting hurt.

A politician dies and goes to the pearly gates and is asked if he wants to go to heaven or hell. He replies with, "Isn't hell all fire and brimstone?"

St Pete tells him he can go check out hell and come back with his decision. The politician goes down to hell and asks the devil for a look at hell. The devil opens the door and lets the politician have a look.

The politician sees the most beautiful resort-like place with hot ladies in bikinis just having a wonderful time.

The politician goes back to heaven and tells St Peter, "I think I want to go to hell."

St Peter asks, "Are you sure that is what you want, because you can't change your mind once you leave?" The politician says yes and heads back to hell as fast as he can.

When the politician gets back to hell, the devil welcomes him in and it's all fire and brimstone. The politician asks the devil, "What happened to the resort and babes?"

The devil replies. "I just told you that was when I needed your vote, now that I have your vote, this is the real hell".

A retired couple on a cross-country drive decided to pull off the highway for lunch at a small roadside diner. After finishing their sandwiches and coffee, they hopped back into the sedan and continued on their way.

It was nearly forty minutes down the open road before the wife began frantically patting her chest, checked her purse, and realized she had left her reading glasses sitting right on the booth table.

To make matters worse, highway construction meant there wasn't an exit or turnaround for miles. By the time her husband finally managed to swing the car back in the opposite direction, he was completely beside himself.

For the next forty minutes, he treated her to a non-stop masterclass in grumbling. He griped about the wasted gas, grumbled about their ruined schedule and scolded her carelessness without taking a single breath. Every few miles, his indignation found a fresh gear. He shook his head at the windshield, threw his hands off the steering wheel, and made sure she felt every ounce of his irritation.

By the time the diner's neon sign finally came back into view, the poor woman couldn't get out of the passenger seat fast enough.

She unbuckled her belt, and just as she reached the door, her husband rolled down his window and shouted across the parking lot:

"Hey! While you're in there, you might as well grab my hat and my credit card!"

Holiday Safety: Just Common Sense

Halloween: when many people are out on the streets going house to house looking for treats. And then we have the people that are staying home dishing out all these treats. You would probably be surprised how many animals escape during Halloween. You open the door for just a minute to pass out candy to some kids and there they are, they're gone and it's dark and almost impossible to see where they go.

We all have a thing we do on 4th of July basically for the same reason. Our animals are afraid and they want to run out of the house, so that is when we lock our animals up in another room and watch after them closely. This is done so they won't be afraid, but it's also done so that they don't run in fear and get lost the first time the door is open. Panic can do crazy things to an animal!

Maybe Halloween we should do the same, put up a gate or put them in another room so that when these scary people come to the door they don't panic and they don't run.

Also with all these crazy noises and screaming going on with the kids playing outside, this can also be a crazy time for your dog to be scared. So why don't we look after them and make sure they have a safe place to be, so we don't have to worry about them, and they don't have to worry about all the noise. And this goes for your cats, too. When the cats get out you can't see them, and if you have a black cat you definitely can't see him.

Bad things can happen to stray animals during Halloween because it is such a crazy sadistic time. There are "people" out there who think running over an animal in the road is fun!

So let's all keep our animals within arm's reach and keep them safe because we love them! We can enjoy the holiday and so can our dogs and cats if they're safe!

A blonde girl takes her car to the garage to get a dent fixed.

The mechanic, seeing that she's blonde, decides to have a laugh with her. He tells her she can save her money by fixing it herself. All she has to do is blow hard into the exhaust and the dent will pop out.

So the blond goes home, parks in her driveway, and begins blowing as hard as she can into the exhaust.

After many attempts with no success, her blonde friend turns up.

"What the heck are you doing?" she asks.

"You have reached tech-support. Press one if you're frustrated. Press two if you're aggravated. Press three if you're angry. Press four if your face is turning red. Press five if there's smoke coming out of your ears..."

"The mechanic told me that if I blow into the exhaust the dent will pop out. Only it doesn't seem to be working," replies the first blonde.

Her friend snorts. "You're so stupid! How do you expect it to work when all your windows are open?"

Kurt Russel owns property in Tombstone!

After filming the 1993 movie Tombstone, co-star Val Kilmer gave Russell an acre of land overlooking the famous cemetery, boot hill.

In order to get ready for his on screen appearance of a gunman, John Wayne studied Wyatt Earp. Is movements gestures and the way he talked. Wayne accredited Earp's real life frontier experiences as the ultimate blueprint for his iconic western hero persona.

It was said that a young Wayne, then working as a prop boy, met an elderly Earp visiting silent film sets directed by John Ford in Los Angeles during the late 1920s.

John Wayne adapted the way that Wyatt Earp talked, watched his actions, and became the hero that we now know.

Earp's last words, according to his wife Josephine, were "Suppose, suppose..." As we know, he passed away quietly on January 13, 1929 in LA. at the age of 80. We will never know what his thought was, as he died before he could finish his sentence.

So in a way, we were able to enjoy Wyatt Earp many years longer through John Wayne, our film hero!

A lawyer meets with the family of a recently deceased millionaire for the reading of the will.

“To my loving wife, Rose, who really loved me and always stood by me, I leave the house and $2 million,” the attorney reads.

“To my darling daughter, Jessica, who looked after me in sickness and kept the business going profitably, I leave the yacht, the business and $1 million.”

“And finally,” the lawyer concludes, “to my cousin Louie, who didn’t work, who lived with us, who never washed a dish or helped out, who never recognized Rose’s or my birthdays or anniversaries, who argued with me and who thought I would never mention him in my will...

“Hello, Louie!”

A rookie police officer pulled a biker over for speeding and had the following exchange:

May I see your driver's license?

I don't have one. I had it suspended when I got my 5th DUI.

May I see the owner's card for this vehicle?

It's not my bike. I stole it.

Officer: The motorcycle is stolen?

That's right. But come to think of it, I think I saw the owner's card in the tool bag when I was putting my gun in there.

There's a gun in the tool bag?

Yes sir. That's where I put it after I shot and killed the dude who owns this bike and stuffed his dope in the saddle bags.

There's drugs in the saddle bags too?!?!?

Yes, sir.

Hearing this, the rookie immediately called his captain. The biker was quickly surrounded by police, and the captain approached the biker to handle the tense situation:

Sir, can I see your license?

Sure. Here it is. It was valid.

Who's owns this motorcycle?

It's mine, officer. Here's the registration.

Could you slowly open your tool bag so I can see if there's a gun in it?

Yes, sir, but there's no gun in it. Sure enough, there was nothing in the tool bag.

Would you mind opening your saddle bags? I was told you said there's drugs in them.

No problem. The saddle bags were opened; no drugs.

I don't understand it. The officer who stopped you said you told him you didn't have a license, stole this motorcycle, had a gun in the tool bag, and that there were drugs in the saddle bags.

Yeah, I'll bet he told you I was speeding, too.

A woman had died in January, but her bank had billed her for their annual service charges for February and March on her credit card, and then added late fees and interest on the monthly charge. The balance had been $0.00 but was now around $60.00. A family member placed a call to the bank.

Family Member: "I am calling to tell you that she died in January."

Bank: "The account was never closed and the late fees and charges still apply."

Family Member: "Maybe, you should turn it over to collections."

Bank: "Since it is two months past due, it already has been."

Family Member: "So, what will they do when they find out she's dead?"

Bank: "Either report her account to the frauds division or report her to the credit bureau, maybe both!"

Family Member: "Do you think God will be mad at her?"

Bank: "Excuse me?"

Family Member: "Did you just get what I was telling you, the part about her being dead?"

Bank: "Sir, you'll have to speak to my supervisor."

Supervisor gets on the phone:

Family Member: "I'm calling to tell you, she died in January."

Bank: "The account was never closed and the late fees and charges still apply."

Family Member: "You mean you want to collect from her estate?"

Bank: (Stammer) "Are you her lawyer?"

Family Member: "No, I'm her great nephew." (Lawyer info given)

Bank: "Could you fax us a certificate of death?"

Family Member: "Sure." (fax number is given)

After they get the fax:

Bank: "Our system just isn't set-up for death. I don't know what more I can do to help."

Family Member: "Well, if you figure it out, great! If not, you could just keep billing her. I don't think she will care."

Bank: "Well, the late fees and charges do still apply."

Family Member: "Would you like her new billing address?"

Bank: "That might help."

Family Member: "Odessa Memorial Cemetery, Highway 129, Plot Number 69."

Bank: "Sir, that's a cemetery!"

Family Member: "What do you do with dead people on your planet?"

Three men, unwillingly a member of a criminal gang, were caught and sent to jail for one year each due to their part in the crime.

They were naive, and had been easily misled. All three had no money and no one to bail them out or help them. The judge feeling a bit sorry for them, told each one, “I am going to let you all have one thing in jail while doing your time so to make your year less harsh and help remove some of the pain & suffering you will have.”

Each man said what they would like to help with their sentence. One of the men, being an Australian said, “I love a good cold drink,” and asked if he can have a bottle of beer every day. It was granted!

The Italian man said, “I love good food,” and asked if he can have a plate of spaghetti every day and he didn’t mind if it was to be plain. It was granted.

The Irishman said, “I am a smoker and can go through a pack a day, so I love a good puff, so please give me cigarettes.” It was granted!

A year later, the Australian man staggered outside the prison gates, singing and completely drunk. The Italian man waddled by and squeezed himself out of the prison gates due to doubling in size.

The Irishman came out dragging a sack behind him. As soon as he made his way out of the prison gates, he saw a woman walk by, and he stopped her. He then asked, “Do you have a match?”

Three blondes are stuck in an elevator.

The first one cries loudly: HEEEEELP!!! HEEEEELP!!! HEEEEELP!!! No one arrives.

The second one cries even louder: HEEEEELP!!! HEEEEELP!!! HEEEEELP!!! No one arrives.

So the third one suggests: Maybe if we cry together, someone could hear us? OK, the first two agreed.

One, two three: TO-GE-THER!!! TO-GE-THER!!! TO-GE-THER!!!

QUESTIONS THAT HAUNT ME!

Why do banks leave vault doors open and then chain pens on the counter tops?

Why is it that doctors and attorneys call what they do "practice"?

Why can't women put on mascara with their mouths closed?

Why is the time of day with the slowest traffic called "rush hour"?

Why are they called apartments when they're stuck together?
