A fellow teacher left the restroom and said, you know you work in an elementary school when they're graffiti on the bathroom wall says, "I love my mom."

I knew I was going bald because it was taking longer and longer to wash my face!

ANY GOVERNMENT BIG ENOUGH TO GIVE YOU EVERYTHING, CAN ALSO TAKE AWAY EVERYTHING YOU HAVE! (RONALD REAGAN)

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

My grandson is making great strides with his potty training, but every now and then he waits too long before going. Once sensing an emergency, he rushed into the bathroom- which was occupied by his mother- and shouted, "scoot over."

My brother delivered prescriptions to people too. Since the neighborhoods he visited were often unsafe, he decided to get some protection. "Why do you need a pistol?" Ask the clerk at the gun shop. My brother had to explain, "I deliver drugs at night and carry a lot of money."

As a professor at Texas A&M, I taught during the day and did research at night. I usually take a break around 9:00 p.m. Calling up the strategy game Warcraft on the Internet and playing with an online team. However, one night I was paired with a veteran of the game who was a master strategist. With him at the helm, our troops crushed opponent after opponent, and after six games we were undefeated. Suddenly my fearless leader informed me his mom wanted him to go to bed. "How old are you?" I typed. "12," he replied. "How old are you?" Feeling my face redden, I answered, "8."

When a teacher asks my 6-year-old nephew why is handwriting wasn't as neat as usual, he responded, "I'm trying a new font."

Leaving the party late, two friends compare notes. "I can never fool my wife, the first one says. I turn off the car engine coast into the garage, sneak upstairs and undress in the bathroom. But she always hears me. And she wakes up and yells at me for being out late." "You should do what I do," says his buddy. "I roar into the garage, stomp up the steps, throw open the door and start kissing my wife. And she pretends to be asleep."

I work in the libraries Local Studies section. My colleagues and I received invitations to attend a presentation at the town hall. The invites were computer generated and used abbreviations for job titles. So the reference library became Ref Lib and so on. I'm not sure whether my co-workers were impressed or amused when my invitation arrived addressed to Local Stud.

The guest speaker at our training sessions for correctional officers was a leading psychologist. We appreciated the fact that he was able to answer in plain English a question many of us had: what is the difference between someone who is delusional and someone who is schizophrenic? "Delusional people build castles in the air," he explained. "Schizophrenics move in and live there."

"This house," said the real estate salesman, "has both good points and bad points. And to show you I'm honest I'm going to tell you about both. The disadvantages are, that there is a chemical plant one block South and a slaughterhouse one block N. So, what are the advantages," inquired the prospective buyer, "The advantage is that you can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

A customer at my hair salon, I overheard the receptionist admit to another customer, "I haven't taken my vitamins today. I'm walking around unprotected". The customer commiserated with her. "I haven't taken my Prozac today - and everyone's walking around unprotected!"

Our coworker Patrick shared his worst workday ever. Was at an appliance store and the delivery truck had broken down, which meant he was flooded with angry phone calls from customers. One irate caller canceled the delivery and told Patrick what he could do with it. I'm sorry, said Patrick that's impossible, I already have a stove, a vacuum cleaner, and a microwave up there.

Service in the restaurant was abysmally slow. My husband was starting to flip out, so I tried to distract him with small talk. "You know," I said "our friend Christy should be having her baby anytime now." "Really?" My husband snapped. "She wasn't even pregnant when we walked in here."

When I stepped on the scale at my doctor's office, I was surprised to see that I weighed 144 lbs. "Why don't you just take off that last four?" I joked with the nurse's aide as she made a notation on my chart. A few minutes later, my doctor came in and flipped through the chart. "I see you've lost weight," he said. "You're down to 14 lbs."

I was stepping out of the shower when my 4-year-old daughter burst through the bathroom door. "Excuse me!" I said. "I'm Naked." She responded, "don't worry I won't laugh at you!"
