Book Marketplace Net Information

The Problem

Authors are releasing their books and discovering the title is quickly lost in the millions of new and used books on the website. Many are becoming discouraged wondering what to do next. They are thinking, “I know someone is looking for a book like this, but I don’t have what it takes to get it into the main marketplace.”

The Solution

The Book Marketplace Net is the brainchild of Sheri Hauser to provide a way for authors to release their works. She has authored the Prophetic Wave Series and the Publisher School, which includes the Lasertrain. Opening Glorybound Publishing in 2005, she has released over 700 books and has training in all aspects of professional publishing. Her present credentials include being a webmaster and graphic designer, as well as having a diploma in Sound Engineering and Social Media Marketing. Combining these elements provides a unique opportunity to offer an inexpensive on-line platform for those with books or music. The goal for Book Marketplace Net is 10K hits per month. Our other websites are reaching this goal, so we feel it is realistic. As you have taken the time to author a good book, we aim to help people find that book!

Marketing Treat

When it comes to trick or treat—this is not a trick, but truly a treat for authors to offer their books to customers. Book Marketplace Net is a matrix of book marketing websites. It is designed as a low-cost, high-traffic on-line market for authors and independent publishers to target their customers. The websites each have an independent flavor. Marketing plans start at $10 per month, allowing 3 books by one author for display on two websites. Book Marketplace Net offers options to increase exposure with second-level marketing by adding websites for $60 per month. Members receive personalized business cards with the book cover of your choice and the QR code for the website. It makes in-person marketing simple. Membership contracts are for 6 months or 12 months. We do not retain credit card numbers, bill beyond initial payment, or sell personal information. Authors may cancel at any time. All of the processing for the Book Marketplace occurs on the website.
